CATALOGUE OF MANUSCRIPTS

251. CHRONICON BURIENSE.

} H. 7
} T. James 89

Vellum, 11 × 7½, ff. 103, 34 lines to a page. Cent. xv early, very well written.

There is a quantity of unusual and pretty pen-work, in pink and green, on the margins of the earlier leaves.

Collation: a<sup>s</sup> b<sup>s</sup> (wants 8) | c<sup>s</sup>-n<sup>s</sup>.

The book is doubtless from Bury St Edmunds. On f. 1 is the pressmark E. 43<sup>1</sup>. A long life of St Edmund is in the text, and there are notes relating to the Abbey at the end.

Contents:

1. Chronicle of the Popes (to Gregory IX, 1370), extracted from another Chronicle . . . . . f. 1
 Petrus fuit primus papa post I. C. quo anno Petrus apud Romam duos ordinavit.
 There is a good blue initial and within it an outline drawing of Peter, throned as Pope, holding keys and book: outside, on L., is St Paul.
 On f. 3a: Expl. de libro quarto. Inc. de libro quinto.
 (Cap. 1.) Hillarius post leonem successit.
 On 5b: Expl. de libro iii<sup>to</sup>. Inc. de libro v<sup>to</sup> (sic).
 (Cap. 2.) Martinus papa post Iohannem.
 On 8b: Expl. de libro sexto. Inc. de lib. septimo.
 Hildebrandus qui et Gregorius vii<sup>us</sup>.
 Ends 12b (Cap. 46): Gregorius undecimus diaconus cardinalis prius Petrus Rogeri nuncupatus.
 ff. 13-15 blank.
2. Inc. historia de Bruto Rege Britonum cum aliis Regibus Anglie linealiter ab eo descendentibus usque ad Regem Ricardum <sup>1</sup> It is not easy to see why this pressmark was given to this book. The letters of the pressmarks of Bury uniformly corresponded to the subjects of the books (e.g. B for Biblia): also, there is another extant volume marked E. 43 (viz. Lambeth MS. 218, Epistolae Alcuini). The proper letter for the present volume is C (=Chronica).

secundum qui presentem fecit compilari historiam anno Regni sui quarto decimo . . . . . f. 16
The initial has a seated king, crowned and robed, with shield and bannered lance, in the same style as the other figured initial.

De Patre istius Bruti historie videntur dissonare. nam Britonum historia dicit istum brutum fuisse filium Siluii.

There are marginal references (not consecutive) to chapters of a work unnamed.

The account of St Edmund occupies ff. 32-43 b. It has a large coloured initial and begins

Sanctus Edmundus Alkamundi Regis Saxonie et Siware Regine filius anno ab incarn. domini (bis) dccccli°.

The last event recorded is Bishop Bateman's attempt on the privileges of St Edmund (1344) and his death, with miraculous signs accompanying. This ends 42 b:

cotidie magnifice operatur in suo martire glorioso.

An account of St Edwold follows:

Postquam autem beatissimus rex Edmundus mutauit per triumphum martirii.

Ends f. 100 a with accession of Richard II.

ac etiam voto communi singulorum in regnum successit
Anglorum anno etatis sue undecimo.

100 b-102 a blank.

On 102 b a note on the old round chapel of St Edmund at Bury.

This note also occurs in the MS. Arundel xxx at the College of Arms. See my Essays on the Abbey of Bury St Edmunds, C. A. S., p. 188.

A. d. m<sup>lo</sup> cc<sup>mo</sup> lxxv° deposita est capella rotunda in cimiterio monachorum in qua corpus S. Edmundi primo iacuit ante translacionem suam

—ex parte australi ubi nunc est capella S. Botulphi et ortus feretrariorum.

On 103 a:

Pensio scholarium.

In primis de feretrariis ad festum S. Michaelis . . . . .	iii <sup>s</sup> vi <sup>d</sup>
Item de diuersis fratribus ad fest. S. Andree . . . . .	xxii <sup>s</sup>
de celerario pro Abbate Will. . . . .	xvii <sup>j</sup> <sup>d</sup>
pro Will. Rowham . . . . .	xii <sup>d</sup>
.....
pro priore Joh. Gofford . . . . .	xx <sup>d</sup>
de Camerario pro Ed° Bokynham . . . . .	xiii <sup>j</sup> <sup>d</sup>
pro henr. de stablys . . . . .	iiii <sup>j</sup> <sup>d</sup>
de manerio de hesete ad fest. purif. . . . .	xx <sup>d</sup>
.....
de thoma munchesey . . . . .	xi <sup>d</sup>
de sacrista pro Abb. Will. cratfeld . . . . .	iii <sup>s</sup> iiii <sup>j</sup> <sup>d</sup>
.....
de magistro cripte . . . . .	x <sup>d</sup>
etc.

No other proper names occur.

The "Cronica que liber Regius appellatur" is referred to in Flete's History of Westminster Abbey (see 287. 3)<sup>1</sup> (but the passage cited by him is not in the text of this MS.) with the note "Cronica Regia ideo dicitur quia Rex Richardus secundus eam scribi fecit a monacho quodam cenobii S. Edmundi de Burye." I think it possible that the present MS. contains a shortened text of this Chronica Regia.

252. STIMULUS AMORIS, ETC.

253. AUGUSTINI CONFSSIONES.
FERRANDUS.

{ T. James 137

Vellum, 11 $\frac{1}{8}$  × 7 $\frac{1}{8}$ , ff. I + 142, 32 and 38 lines to a page. Cent. xi (in the pointed hand characteristic of Christ Church, Canterbury) and xii.

Collation: 1 flyleaf, 1<sup>8</sup>–16<sup>8</sup> 17 (four) || 18<sup>10</sup>. 2 fo. funderis.

I have little doubt that this book belonged to Canterbury or Rochester, but I cannot trace it in the catalogues.

On i a in large capitals:

AUG DE CONF.

Contents:

- I. 1. Retractatio in libris confessionum . . . . . f. 1
Confessionum mearum libri
—sic incipit.
- Confessionum Aurel. Aug. Inc. liber primus (xxxii 659).
Magnus es domine.

A good drawing forms the initial. Gold has been inserted for the nimbus, etc. but the rest remains in outline. Christ seated in C. blessing. On R. a man in a broad hat, and on L. a bishop with low mitre, crosier and chasuble with gold band hold the ends of a scroll which passes in front of Christ's figure.

Lib. II, fine outline initial. III, initial partly filled with red and green. Subsequent books have also excellent initials, nearly all in outline. Those of Libb. VII, X, XI, XII are perhaps the best.

Lib. XIII ends 130<sup>b</sup>: sic aperietur. Amen.

Aur. Aug. Confessionum Lib. Tercius decimus expl.

131, 132 blank.

II. In a narrow black hand of cent. xii.

258. ANDR. HORN SPECULUM JUSTICIARIORUM.

BRETON.

{ O. 19
T. James vac.

Vellum, 10 $\frac{9}{10}$  × 7 $\frac{7}{10}$ , ff. 1 + 52 + 131, 48 and 35 lines to a page, two volumes. Cent. xiv early, in two charter hands.

The flyleaf is of cent. xii: on the recto in single lines:

De puella mortua fide constricta que coniurato sibi clerico postmortem ap(paruit).

Quoniam mi karissime Radulfe de anime utilitate crebro mecum colloqui et ex multis que nesciebam me quondam.../consueueras. rem uere gestam quam (about  $\frac{2}{3}$  of the line erased) relatio.../didici etc.

In line 5: Clericus inquit sibi bene notus (erasure of three words; the 3rd is herefordie) ad se nuper aduenien... etc.

The verso is headed X and is in two columns, the first rather cut.

...herodes explorare uoluit/...miracula uidere concupiuit (evidently on John Baptist, "he was a burning and a shining light" etc.).

Ends: quatinus et lector tanto feruentior ad legendi studium redeat quanto ex lectionis quoque incisione respirat. Expl. lib. decimus.

Collation: 1 flyleaf, a<sup>12</sup>-d<sup>12</sup> e<sup>4</sup> || 1<sup>12</sup>-11<sup>12</sup> (wants 2).

Contents:

I. Speculum Justiciariorum: the Mirror of Justices.

This is the unique copy edited (with Introduction by Professor Maitland) for the Selden Society by W. J. Whittaker, 1895.

There is a close connexion between this volume and no. 70.

Both belonged to Andrew Horn. Among the MSS. burnt in Westminster Abbey Chapter Library in 1694 was a Summa Legum per Andream Horne (Cat. MSS. Angl. II, no. 1298 (208)).

Ends f. 51 b. 52 blank.

II. In a somewhat larger hand:

Incipit Breton . . . . . f. 1

I do not understand how this volume comes to be omitted from T. James's list.

259. R. HIGDEN POLYCHRONICON.

{ A. 6
T. James 6

Codex membranaceus in folio minori seculo xv scriptus, in quo continentur, Polycratica temporum Rogeri Cestriensis.

Historia desinit in anno 1338.

Vellum, 11 × 6 $\frac{1}{5}$ , ff. 204; 52, 45, 40 lines to a page. Cent. xiv (first half), in several hands. l. 6 | bi.

Collation: 1<sup>12</sup>-17<sup>12</sup> (modern foliation incorrect by two).

Notes from Bale on paper flyleaf.

Contents:

Text. Intrabo in agros priscorum subsequens metentes . . . f. 1

There are rather copious marginal notes of cent. xvi.

Several hands have been employed: the last begins on f. 190.

Lib. VII ends in 1338:

Conferentes se ad portum de Hamptone ubi duas naues statim postea conbuserunt.

This MS. is noticed in the Rolls ed. of the Polychronicon (I p. xx note) as being of the type to which the name of Roger of Chester is attached.

260. MUSICA.

} N. 18

265. PENITENTIALE, LEGES, CANONES, ETC.

{ K. 2
T. James 107

Codex membranaceus in 4<sup>to</sup>, seculo xi scriptus,

In protocollo habetur forma voti castitatis a monachis faciendi in hæc verba : “Ego frater N promitto Deo omnibusque sanctis ejus castitatem corporis mei secundum ———— decreta et secundum ordinem mihi imponendum servare, domino presule Wlstando presente.”

Et manu neoterica liber sic inscribitur, “Liber penitentialis Egberti, qui erat episcopus Ebor. septimus a Paulino, qui post eum primus pallium accepit ab apostolica sede, anno septimo regis Ceolwlphi A. D. 730.”

Omnia tamen quæ in prima parte hujus codicis occurrunt minime sunt Egberto tribuenda : non igitur ab re erit singula breviter enumerare, tametsi ut haud raro evenit in codicibus antiquioribus, difficile sit pro defectu titulorum suum cuique tribuere, diversosve tractatus ad amussim separare.

1. Ammonitio spiritualis doctrinæ, p. 3.
2. Admonitio episcop. vit. p. 4.
3. Epistola Albini levitæ [a] Æþelheardum archiepiscopum, p. 7.

4. Epistola Alcwini ad Eanbaldum archiepiscopum, p. 13.
5. De doctrina et exemplis præpositorum, p. 17.
6. Jura quæ sacerdotes debent habere, p. 20.
7. Excerptiones ex libris canonicis sive collectio canonum conciliorum et sanctorum patrum, p. 22.

Plerumque concordant cum compilatione Echberto Eboracensi attributa in primo tomo conciliorum magnæ Britanniæ.

8. Excerptio de canonibus catholicorum patrum, vel penitentia, vel ad remedium animarum domini Echberti archiepiscopi Eboracæ civitatis, p. 37.

Omnino discrepat hæc compilatio ab illa sub eodem fere titulo edita a Cl. Wilkins inter concilia M. B. ab alio codice hujus bibliothecæ. Ut jam innui difficile est varia in hoc codice contenta propriis titulis insignire; et multus dubito utrum subsequencia inter partes hujus penitentialis sint numeranda.

- a. Ordo confessionis sancti Hieronimi, qualiter confiteri debeat christianus peccata sua, Saxonice, p. 27.

Ex canonibus sub Edgardo rege editis.

- β. Qualiter sacerdos suscipere debeat penitentem, p. 94.
- γ. Excerpta de libris Romanorum et Francorum, p. 100.
- δ. Exempla Saxonica accastigationis hominum, p. 105.
- ε. Decreta et epistolæ Romanorum pontificum aliorumque.
9. Epistola Theodulphi Aureliensis episcopi ad parochiam suam, p. 122.
10. Sermo Elfrici episcopi ad clericos, p. 159.

Matrimonium clericorum condemnat, et ad castitatem hortatur: "non autem" inquit "cogimus violenter vos demittere uxores vestras, sed dicimus vobis quales esse debetis, et si non vultis, nos erimus securi et liberi a vestris peccatis, quia diximus vobis canones sanctorum patrum."

11. Sermo ejusdem ad sacerdotes, p. 174.

In quo hæc notatu digniora; — "infantibus baptizatis statim debetis dare communionem:" — "non licet celebrare missam cum solo vino nec cum sola aqua, quia vinum significat nostram redemptionem per sanguinem Christi, et aqua significat populum Dei pro quo ipse passus est." — De eucharistia, "non fit tamen hoc sacrificium corpus ejus in quo passus est pro nobis, nec sanguis ejus quem pro nobis effudit, sed spiritualiter corpus ejus efficitur et sanguis, sicut manna quod de cælo pluit et aqua quæ de petra fluxit." Ultimam hunc locum a papista quodam olim abrasum e veteri libro Exoniensis bibliothecæ fuisse restitutum testatur in margine quidam neotericus.

12. De baptismo et missa [quæ sola dicuntur sacramenta] ordinibus ecclesiasticis, &c. p. 180.

13. Alii canones sumpti e Gregorio et Adriano papa, p. 199.

14. Benedictio post absolutionem, p. 209.

15. Excommunicatio contra contemptores legis Domini et inimicos sanctæ Dei ecclesiæ post lectionem sancti Evangelii a pulpito per diaconum legenda; cum forma reconciliationis et absolutionis penitentium, p. 211.

16. Statutum Edgari regis de decimis solvendis, et aliæ leges ejusdem, Latine et Saxonice, p. 216.

Edidit Wilkins inter leges Anglo-saxonicas sub titulo supplementi L. L. Edgari regis.

17. Excerpta ex institutionibus monasticis Ethelwoldi episcopi Wintoniensis compilata in usum fratrum Egneshammensium per Ælfricum abbatem, p. 237.

18. Libellus ecclesiastici ordinis, in quo de discretione vestimentorum divinatorum et de omnibus ritibus in missa celebranda, p. 269.
19. Ordo processionis ad ecclesiam sive ad missam secundum Romanos, p. 298.
20. Ordo missæ a sancto Petro apostolo institutus, seu potius expositio totius missæ ex concordia divinarum scripturarum, p. 305.
21. Alia expositio totius missæ, p. 319.
22. Ordo processionis quando episcopus festivis diebus missam celebrare voluerit, p. 324.
23. Qualiter quædam orationes et cruces in TE IGITUR agenda sunt, p. 326.
24. Eglogæ de ordine Romano et de IIII orationibus episcoporum sive populi in missa, p. 329.
- * * * * *
25. Ordo celebrandi missam per totum annum, p. 368.
26. Excerpta Ivonis venerabilis episcopi Carnotensis; in primis de gestis quorundam regum Assyriorum, et gestis omnium Romanorum imperatorum, et ad ultimum de Karolo magno rege Francorum et ejus filio Ludovico pio, p. 447.

Vellum, 10 $\frac{3}{8}$  × 6 $\frac{3}{8}$ , ff. 217 + 54 + 2, two main volumes. Cent. xi, in a good many fine hands. The lower edges of the first 40 leaves have suffered slightly from damp.

Quire 23 is of smaller sized vellum. The old pagination is incorrect but will be used here.

The book is evidently from Worcester. (See Strype's Parker II 509.)

An admirable study of the contents has been given by Miss Bateson in the English Historical Review, 1895, p. 712, and is summarized below.

It is MS. C in Liebermann's Gesetze, X in Napier's Wulfstan. It is also dealt with in Lord Selborne's Ancient Facts and Fictions concerning Tithes, ed. 2, p. 230, 232 etc.

On f. 1 the formula given by Nasmith, in an upright round hand :

Ego frater N. promitto deo omnibusque sanctis eius castitatem / corporis mei secundum (patrum?) decreta et secundum / ordinem mihi (blank : above the line, imponendum) seruare. domno / presule uulstano presente.

On 1 b there has been writing now washed out.

There is an old table of contents in a pointed hand of cent. xiii :

De spiritali doctrina
 Penitenciale egberti archiepiscopi eboracensis
 Ordo confitendi anglice secundum Jeronimum
 Quedam constitutiones
 Epistola Alfrici de consuetudine monachorum
 De diuinis uestimentis et officio misse
 De processione et statione romanorum
 Item triplex expositio super missam
 Cronica Yuonis.

Below is the xvth cent. note given by Nasmith.

Text begins p. 3 in a very fine upright round hand, 26 lines to a page. Titles in red capitals.

The first hand continues to p. 207. On that page is a paragraph in another good hand:

De capitulis Beati pape Adriani et Angilramni Ep.
and Ex concilio Toletano.

On 209 is a paragraph in another xith cent. hand :

Ex illorum consortio quidam rebelles sancte christianitati existentes corde amente<sup>i</sup> in capite sancti quadragessimalis ieiunii terram beate marie adierunt que æt Christes hala alioque uocabulo æt ontelape uocatur illamque combusserunt. homines quoque quosdam flagris adfecerunt. quosdam occiderunt substantiamque omnium terre illius habitatorum secum asportauerunt et adhuc in sua perseuerantes malitia ad penitentiam uenire dedignantur.

A cross in the margin refers to the excommunication form on p. 211, where is a like cross.

On the same page in a hand of cent. xii is a formula :

Post absolutionem
Absoluti et benedicti sitis a patre etc.

p. 210 blank but for a rudiment of a map, thus :

Asia maior.

quod sunt septuaginta due gentes orbe		Achaia
		Sanctus Andreas
De Sem Gentes xxvii		cesaria. hic
		petrus predicauit		(a ship?)

The excommunication form p. 211 sqq. is in a smaller script than the paragraph on p. 209 but probably by the same hand.

On p. 215 there is a change: but the same hand resumes on 216 and continues probably to 231 at least.

pp. 232-236 are blank.

pp. 237-268 are in a very similar hand.

The division of the hands in the next section seems to be :

(1) pp. 269 to about 279.

(2) pp. 279 to 305.

(3) pp. 305 to 329. In these portions are some pretty initials.

After p. 329 the hands (of which there may be two or three) are of a distinctly larger and rather coarser type. They continue to p. 442.

On p. 363 is an insertion of cent. xii, describing order of offices at Rome in Holy Week and Easter Week :

Die cene consecrauit papa crisma in ecclesia saluatoris lateranis. et fuerunt ibi vi uasa uitrea plena oleo. In missa dixit pfectionem. Qui corporali ieiunio etc. Dictum est ibi Agnus dei sicut solet.

Ends p. 364 :

Distribuit papa agnos nouellos quos dicunt de cera et crismate anni preteriti cum deuotione maxima confectos esse et in specie agni utrobique impressos esse.

c. c. c. ii. i.

pp. 365-7 blank.

pp. 368-71 in double columns. The hand is large, round and black, the vellum somewhat smaller.

pp. 391-442 have 31 lines to a page.

Such is the general form of the book in respect of changes of hand and notes of provenance.

The following portions of the text have been printed by Liebermann, Gesetze :

p. 216 of MS. Liebermann p. 207. Latin version of Eadgar's laws IV Prol.

p. 222 of MS. Liebermann p. 206. Eadgar IV Prol. Anglo-Saxon.

Miss Bateson's account of the contents may be thus summarized with a few additions :

p. 3 (of MS.). Inc. ammonitio spiritalis doctrine Exalta in fortitudine.

Not identified: consists of short extracts from named sources and resembles Ps.-Theodore cap. 2 Thorpe=190 p. 169 Nero A, 1, f. 126 a.

P. L. cv.

p. 19. De variis obseruationibus episcopi.

Canons of Conc. Carthag. IV, fifteen short extracts in one paragraph.

p. 20. Iura quae sacerdotes debent habere, in 21 chapters.

'Long believed to be by Abp. Egbert, and since shown by Lord Selborne to be identical with a group of sacerdotal laws to which he would ascribe a date not earlier than 813 (but which are now believed to be earlier).' See Selborne op. cit. 42.

p. 22. Excerptiones Egberti, so-called (102 extracts).

Excerptiones ue (s) libris canonicis. Augustinus Aurelianensis ep. dicit.

Many excerpts missing in pp. 20-37 are supplied in other parts of the MS. See below on p. 60.

p. 37. The work known as the genuine Penitential of Egbert.

p. 50. De egris qui ieiunare non possunt: a passage resembling Ps.-Theodore xxxv (2nd paragraph).

pp. 51-58. Passages from Theodulf's second letter to his clergy.

pp. 60-72 are thus analysed by Miss Bateson:

p. 60. Thorpe, Excerpts 113, 114, 127, 123.

Part of the 10th Canon of the first Synod of Arles followed by another sentence. Then, quotations from the Shepherd of Hermas (Mand. IV 1).

Thorpe, Exc. 122 and 120 (1st sentence).

Sermon on marriage.

Exc. 121 (part): extracts from Paul and Augustine containing Exc. 119.

Exc. 120 (last part, with a sentence added), 124, 125.

- p. 66. Exc. 128 (first part): Ps.-Theodore (Wasserschleben) cap. v §§ 12, 11, and a sentence of § 19.
- pp. 66-68. Table of prohibited degrees.
Exc. 132, 133 (and an added sentence), 131, 121 (a sentence), a sentence from Aug. on Hagar.
- p. 69. A passage analogous to Excc. 131, 134, differing in the terms of years prescribed for penance.
- p. 70. Halitgar's Penitential IV 16, 17, 18, 15.

Ends p. 197, atque in eius laudibus pariter exultantes.

A little head well sketched in the margin.

p. 198. Gregorius Maximiniano.

p. 199. List of titles of canons in two columns, followed by the text. Apparently from the Dionysio-Hadriana (P. L. LXVII 141).

The titles and text do not coincide in all particulars. First come nine titles, ending Expl. Capitula Nicene. These are capp. 8, 17, 18, 20, 22, 25, 29, 42, 48 of Dionysius' Apostolical Canons issued by Clement.

In the titles follows the rubric Inc. Concilium eiusdem. Then 7 titles of which the first is the title of the first chapter of the text, and is the first of Dionysius' Can. Niceni Conc. xx (slightly different and imperfect). Then (not represented in the list of titles) capp. 17 and 20 of the same.

The next title is that of cap. 8 of Silvester's Conc. Rom. (325 A.D.: P. L. VIII 835), this is given in the text and is followed by part of cap. 11 (not represented in the list of titles). Five more titles follow, the first two not represented in the text: these are Dionysius' Ancyran collection capp. 29, 30, 40: the last two are his cap. 45 (Neo-Caesarea) and 51 (Nicene).

The titles then have the rubric Inc. Synodus Gangrensis and the titles of Dionysius cap. 71, 75. In the text these are preceded by his cap. 60 without separate rubric.

The titles then proceed with a number taken from his African collection; these agree with the text and are those of his capp. 3, 4, 5, 7, 16, 17, 25, 32, 33, 70, 102, 109, 115. Here the table of contents ends.

In the text there follow the rubric De capitulis b. Pape Adriani et Angilramni episcopi and capp. 71, 72 of Angilram's spurious collection (P. L. XCVI 1067). Last comes a passage from Conc. Tolet. IV 28 (P. L. LXXXIV 374).

Canticum psalorum animas decorat. (CXXXI 142: CXLII 46)

—in caelo deus mirificabit.

f. 3 b was originally blank, apparently. It is now covered by a leaf cut from a xiith cent. Psalter and pasted on to it. This leaf has an elaborate full-page initial B and the letters EATUS—VIA PECCATORUM in gold capitals on blue (and white) ground. The letter B is filled with conventional foliage and convoluted stems, in the curves of which are many small white animals. The ground of this is gold. In the stem of the B is a medallion with gold ground containing a crowned bust of David. Outside the letter the ground is blue.

The frame is of gold and red (dotted with white): at the angles are four medallions and in the middle of the sides four half-medallions, all with gold ground. Those at the angles have: top L., bust of white-bearded man: lower L., bust of beardless man; upper and lower R., busts of kings. Those in the sides have: upper and lower C., busts of angels: L. side small man in red and blue: R., small man in red with shield.

The work is bold and rich but not very delicate.

Text begins f. 4 imperfectly in Ps. ii. 2. Asstiterunt reges terrae.

There is a marginal gloss in a very beautiful small hand. The references to the text are made (on ff. 4 a, 5 a) by Greek letters.

It begins: Reges autem terre herodem dicit qui infantes occidit. alterumque herodem nepotem eius qui pilato in nece christi consensit.

At the end of each Psalm is a Collect, that for Ps. ii is: Disrumpe domine nostrorum uincula peccatorum.

The initials of Psalms and verses are usually in fluid gold throughout the book. On f. 7 are two initials filled with blue.

On f. 1 a the initial is handsome, in fluid gold edged with red, blue ground: the letter surrounded by gold foliage. On 1 b, 2 b late pen-flourishing has been added to the initials.

After f. 25 a leaf is gone with end of Ps. xxv and beginning of xxvi.

The latter had a large initial occupying most of the page: the set-off is visible on f. 26 a.

After f. 39 a leaf is gone with the beginning of Ps. xxxviii. The set-off of the full-page initial is well seen on 39 b.

On 51 a are two small decorative initials. After 51 a leaf is gone with most of Ps. li: little of the set-off can be seen. The first words of Ps. lii are in gold capitals.

After 65 a leaf is gone with the beginning of Ps. lxxviii. The set-off of the initial is very visible on 65 b.

After 81 a leaf is gone with part of Ps. lxxx. The set-off of the initial is very visible on 82 a.

On 98 a is the only large initial which has survived; to Ps. xcvi. It is of gold edged with red, with panels of patterned blue, filled with green and with gold interlacings: outside is gold foliage in two colours of gold.

After 100 two leaves gone with part of Ps. ci. Set-off of initial on 101 a. After 114 a leaf gone with Ps. cix and part of cx.

On 142 two small decorative initials.

Ps. cl ends on f. 150. The Collect is: Armoniae nostrae suavissime melos.

Gloss ends: in spiritu qui spiritus est laudare non desinit.

In gold capitals at the foot of the page is:

150 b blank.

Then follows the Litany on four leaves in a smaller script than before but very probably by the same scribe. The text is arranged in double columns and in arched or pedimented frames like those in which, in early gospel books, the Canons of the Gospels are written. In this MS. the shafts are purple or green, marbled, and have plants twined spirally about them. The plinth on which they stand is yellow with red patterns, and the lintel above in one case of purple and elsewhere of yellow and red. The tympana above this are filled with conventional foliage in gold and colour, and above the arches or gables are birds pecking at leaves.

The flyleaves (two) are from a roll or book of Christ Church, Canterbury, records of courts (xiv or xv).

Acta in ecclesia Christi cant. (year not given).

Many Kentish place-names occur.

On the last flyleaf are many unimportant scribbles.

Of the persons mentioned in the Litany Marinus, consecrated Pope in Dec. 882, died in May 884. Carloman, sole king in 882, died in 884. Fulco, Abp of Rheims, was consecrated on 10 March 883. This gives a date between March 883 and May 884 for the writing of the Litany.

Of the Saints: Sixtus, Sinicius, Nivardus, are of Rheims. Also Sindulfus: Cilinia is mother of St Remigius. Theoderic is of Cambrai, Theodulf of Rheims.

The occurrence of Remigius in gold capitals is a further indication of Rheims. It is not clear why Abundus is in gold unless it be to mark the end of the list of Confessors. The reason for the importance given to Columbanus is also to seek.

That the book was in later times the property of Christ Church, Canterbury, the flyleaves at the end seem to show: and also the large inserted frontispiece to the Psalter appears to me to be in a style characteristic of Christ Church. It is like the work in the glossed Gospels (Trin. Coll. 3. 5. 5) only not so good.

Mr Bradshaw's account of the manuscript in his tract on The Early Collection of Canons known as the Hibernensis (Cambridge, 1893) is the best available. I quote the principal part of it here :

MS. 279 in the collection given by Archbishop Parker to Corpus Christi College is another MS. of which it is very difficult to give in a few words a thoroughly satisfactory account. It contains four principal pieces, of which the third and fourth belong together, all transcribed by a very inaccurate copyist of the Xth or IX-Xth century. The first (leaves 1<sup>a</sup>-6<sup>a</sup>) is the Synodus Episcoporum id est Patricii Auxilii et Issernini, a set of canons printed by Spelman (and from him by others) from this copy. Indeed they have not been preserved at all except here and in the citations from them which occur in the Hibernensis. The second (leaves 6<sup>a</sup>-55<sup>a</sup>) is a collection of testimonia arranged roughly under certain subjects, some having rubrics and some not, but without any apparent method or sequence. It begins with some dicta of St Augustine de conjugum ratione.

The authorities are such as are cited in the Hibernensis, and in many cases the passages are identical. They include Patricius and Gildas, and the latest author cited is Isidorus. But the collection is certainly not derived from the Hibernensis, being rather a compilation drawn independently from the same sources; and as under some heads passages are cited from Gildas which do not occur in the Hibernensis, it follows that the compilation must have been made in some district where his writings were accessible; and we thus obtain some sort of clue to the locality in which it originated. The third and fourth pieces are (3) the Liber ex Lege Moysi (55<sup>b</sup>—80<sup>a</sup>) and (4) a series of extracts, in order, from the A-text of the Hibernensis (81<sup>a</sup>—94<sup>a</sup>), with some independent paragraphs, many of Irish origin, interposed (80<sup>a</sup>—81<sup>b</sup>) between the two, and others of a different kind at the end (94<sup>a</sup>—96<sup>b</sup>), the last breaking off abruptly (96<sup>b</sup>) in consequence of the loss of two leaves (97, 98) at the end of the last quire.

The Liber ex lege Moysi is a collection of extracts, in order, from Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy, which, so far as I can ascertain, is only known to exist in the position in which we here find it. It will be seen below that in three of the Brittany manuscripts in our list (nos. 4, 7, 10), it occurs prefixed to the A-text of the Hibernensis. In one of these (no. 4) it follows immediately upon the general rubric or title of the Hibernensis, while in another (no. 7) it follows immediately upon the introductory paragraphs De synodis and the Index titulorum at the beginning of the Hibernensis; facts which clearly point to some connexion between the two works, at least so far as their origin is concerned. The series of extracts from the Hibernensis begins (after a passage from Tit. 8, De recapitulatione septem graduum, Cap. 2, which serves as an introduction) with Tit. 1, De episcopo, Cap. 3, and goes on to Tit. 48 (your<sup>1</sup> 50), De reliquiis in deserto humatis, Cap. 1. Of the paragraphs at the end of the volume I have nothing to say in connexion with our subject; but those which immediately follow the Liber ex lege Moysi are of particular interest to us, as it is to them that we shall have to look for our best clue to the history of the MS. Only let me first draw attention to two points, of which the bearing will be more clearly seen when I come to speak of the Brittany MSS.

Of the four principal pieces in the present volume nos. 1, 2, and 4 are quite free from any interlinear or marginal gloss; while in no. 3 (the Liber ex lege Moysi) and in the paragraphs of Irish origin appended to it, glosses are more or less thickly strewn, for the most part Latin, but in about a dozen cases Irish. These Irish glosses have been printed by Mr Whitley Stokes from the copies which I sent him; and from his commentary it is clear that, judging from the confusion of s and f and other mistakes, they cannot have been written by a scribe who knew anything of the Irish language. The character is certainly not that which would be used by an Irish scribe, even on the continent, in writing words in his own language. We are therefore brought to the conclusion that the copyist of this MS. must have had before him a manuscript already containing these Irish glosses, and must have been employed in a locality where such books were preserved.....

I am inclined to think that the present volume may have been copied from three several manuscripts containing respectively, (1) the Synodus Patricii, (2) the Augustini Dicta de conjugum ratione, &c. and (3) the Liber ex lege Moysi and Hibernensis-extracts; and that this third manuscript may have been copied from two others, one containing the Liber ex lege Moysi with paragraphs at the end, all more or less noted with Latin and Irish glosses, and the other containing a set of excerpta from the Hibernensis. I do not wish to lay any great stress on the necessity of its having originated in this particular way; but it is as well to show how the present result may have been produced.

Now that we have reached this point, it becomes clear that, in order to ascertain anything definitely concerning the origin of this manuscript, we must look (1) internally, to the Synodus Patricii which forms no. 1, the citations from Patricius and Gildas in no. 2, and the Liber ex lege Moysi with its appended paragraphs and Irish glosses in no. 3; and (2) externally, to what we can learn of its later history.

This latter point, concerning its external history, is easily disposed of. The book came to Cambridge on Archbishop Parker's death in 1575, and belonged to him for some time previous to that date. It bears at present no mark at all to indicate any earlier ownership, but a little patience has fortunately brought this to light. In printing the canons of the Synodus Patricii (Councils, Vol. 2, page 330, note a) Mr Haddan says: "There is another (very imperfect) copy of them (xvth century) in MS. C.C.C.C. 298, no. 22." But, on examining this MS. 298 in 1879, I found that the latter part of the volume was not a xvth century MS., but a mass of collectanea made by Parker, and by others for him, from various manuscripts; and that the incomplete copy of our canons mentioned by Haddan is a transcript, from the very MS. 279 which is now under discussion, in the familiar handwriting of Parker himself, who has written at the top the following heading: "Ex libro quodam vetusto ecclesiae wigornensis." From this it follows that the original, at the time this was written, had been lent to Archbishop Parker from the library of Worcester cathedral, and that it afterwards passed, like many more of the most precious possessions of our cathedral and monastic libraries, into the private library of the Archbishop. Once traced to Worcester, it is not difficult to see how the book may have come to England (for it was certainly not written in either England or Ireland) with one of the Norman or Lotharingian bishops introduced in the eleventh century by Edward the Confessor or William the Conqueror<sup>1</sup>.

On pp. 30 sqq. Mr Bradshaw prints "the paragraphs partly of Irish origin which are appended to the Liber ex lege Moysi" and discusses them. On p. 32 he says "until fresh evidence is forthcoming, I shall believe that the present manuscript, whether it was itself transcribed in the Cambrai and Arras district or elsewhere, owes its origin to manuscripts then preserved in Brittany."

The Synodus (pp. I-11) is printed by Haddan and Stubbs II 330.

The last text in the volume ends imperfectly:

2. Annales a nativitate Christi ad annum 1339.

Ad imum primæ paginæ "Iste liber est de communitate Burtoniæ, qui eum alienaverit anathema sit, Amen."

Ex hac inscriptione codici quidem cœva, folio vero non inscripta sed eidem agglutinata, hi annales a Parkero Jamesio et Stanley nominati sunt annales de Burton; recte tamen observavit Cl. Stanley eos ab impressis prorsus esse diversos. Codicem diligenter evolventi occurrerunt multa quæ mihi fidem fecerunt eos a quodam monacho cenobii S. Andreæ apud Northampton conscriptos esse. Primo enim notatur successio abbatum Cluniacensium, cujus ordinis fuit hoc cenobium: secundo, nulla fit mentio monasterii de Burton, sed fundatio domus S. Andreæ per Simonem comitem de Northampton occurrit ad annum 1083, tertio, ad annum 1237 sunt hæc verba "In hoc monasterio beati Andreæ quoddam mirabile contigit."

Usque ad annum 1206 eadem manu scribuntur, postea diversis; anno 1249 inseritur edictum Gallica lingua scriptum Edwardi I. quando Scotiam intravit, et genealogia eorum qui jus suum asseruerunt in illud regnum.

4. Expeditio contra Turcos circa annum 1094.

Extat inter gesta Dei per Francos sub hoc titulo "Gesta Francorum et aliorum Hierosolymitanorum."

In a hand of cent. xvi:

a. Epitaphium Lewelini magni . . . . . f. 79 a

Hic iacet anglorum tortor tutor wenedorum,
Princeps Wallorum Lewelinus regula morum
Gemma coeuerum flos regum pretentorum,
Forma futurorum dux lux laus lex populorum.

b. De S. Patricio.

Hic iacent in duno tumulo tumulantur in uno,
Brigida patricius atque columba pius.

79 b blank.

II. 2. Begins in a hand of cent. xii, 30 lines to a page, in annalistic form. Years from Annus domini I: a line to each, every 10th year in red. Few entries at first. On a slip of vellum pasted on to f. 1,

Iste liber est de communitate burtonie qui eum alienauerit anathema sit. amen (xv late).

The page is headed in red and green capitals:

Anni ab incarn. Domini.

There are a few late additions, e.g. at 141 a.d.:

hic baptizati sunt nouem ex doctoribus et scolaribus cantebrigie.
532 of Agapitus: hic instituit doctores sacre theologie.

Great interest is shown in the Cluniac order and its saints.

At 1083 is a later note: Hoc anno Simon comes Northampton edificauit domum S. Andree.

1101 added: Item inuencio S. Milburge apud wenlok.

The hand (probably two hands) preserves uniformity to the end of f. 19 (1140), an obviously different one begins at f. 20 leaving irregular spaces for the years. It continues to 24 b (1206) and goes on writing the numbers of the years perhaps as far as 1218. But the entries are in different and smaller hands.

There are many of these. They continue to 34 b (1294).

Then intervenes a document of Edward I asserting his claim to Scotland . . . . . f. 35

The hand of 1294 resumes on 38 with 1295 and goes on to 1303.

On 39 b a hand of much more current type begins and goes on to 46 b (1330): a second hand of the same type continues to 48 a (1339) et mense marcio regressus est rex in angliam.

3. On 48 b in a Parkerian hand:

Thomas de la Moore in libro suo de morte et vita Edwardi secundi.

Mittuntur littere increpatorie custodibus (Castrum de Barkley) —minis terribilibus in fugam coactiuis affligere non cessauit.

49 b-54 ruled but blank.

III. In a good hand of cent. xii, 29 lines to a page,

4. Cum iam appropinquasset ille terminus.

The hand of the last 5½ leaves is different.

Ends:

Hoc bellum actum est ii idus augusti largiente d. n. I. C. cui est honor et gloria nunc et semper et per infin. seculorum sec.

286. EVANGELIA CANTUARIENSIA.

}	L. 15
	T. James 136

Codex membranaceus et antiquissimus in 4<sup>to</sup>, sed quod dolendum initio mutilus, in quo majoribus et rotundioribus literis Romanis scribuntur,

Evangelia quatuor Latine secundum versionem D. Hieronimi, haud tamen absque majoris momenti lectionibus ab editione vulgata discrepantibus. De hoc autem codice notandum est eum ab aliis antiquissimis codicibus, quos in Anglia scriptos esse constat, cum quoad membranorum faciem tum quoad atramenti colorem tum denique quoad literarum ductum maxime differre.

Quæ quidem cum aliis infra dicendis rationibus faciunt ut credam hunc codicem unum esse eorum quos ad Augustinum Anglorum apostolum et primum Dorobernensem archiepiscopum mille et centum abhinc annis misit Gregorius magnus papa Romanus. De libris ab eo in Angliam missis consulat eruditus lector Iohannem Diaconum in vita Gregorii magni cap. 37. et Bedæ historiam ecclesiasticam lib. i. cap. 29.

Hunc codicem quondam ad abbatiam S. Augustini Cantuariæ pertinuisse ante septingentos annos fidem facit,

1. Conventio Saxonice scripta [Paulo ante initium evangelii secundum D. Marcum] quæ facta fuit inter Wulfricum abbatem [qui floruit A.D. 949] et Ealredum Lifingi filium. [f. 77 b.]

Verum ad calcem evangelii secundum D. Mattheum habetur ante annos octingentos scriptum,

2. Testamentum Ealzburgæ in quo recitantur quæ legavit monasterio S. Augustini. [f. 74 b.]

Quod quidem testamentum publicavit D. Georgius Hiccesius in dissertatione sua epistolari.

Ad calcem codicis habentur Latine,

3. Redditio terræ de Wicham Deo et S. Augustino et domino Hugoni abbati per Robertum Fresla, in illa quadragesima in qua rex Henricus dedit filiam suam imperatori.

4. Conventio inter Osbernum de Rippla filiosque ejus et abbatem S. Augustini de annua pensione xv. viii. d. solvenda ex terra de Rippla.

5. Reliquiæ quæ sunt in uno parvo nigro scrinio uno flore notato.

6. Concessio collis, qui est proximus Sakenhethe, Jacobo filio Gilrici per Robertum abbatem et conventum, ea conditione ut dictus Jacobus ibi faciat unam salinam et reddet annuatim ad curiam de Cistelet II ferdendellos salis et V solidos.

7. Concessio 7 acrarum in Betleshangre Willelmo filio Hugonis de Betleshangre per Robertum abbatem et conventum, reservata pensione XLII denariorum curiæ de Norb. annuatim solvenda.

8. Concessio messuagii Columbino clerico per eundem abbatem et conventum, reservata pensione Xs.

9. Concessio messuagii Benedicto filio Radulphi per abbatem et conventum reservata pensione XIII. s. annuatim.

10. Concessio 10 acrarum terræ et dim. in villa de Estbotleshengre Hamoni filio Willelmi de Botleshanger per Robertum elemosinarium cum consensu abbatis et conventus.

11. Confirmatio ejusdem donationis per abbatem et conventum.

12. Concessio cujusdam horti Willelmo filio Iohannis de Fenglesham per dictum elemosinarium.

Vellum,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$ , ff. 2 + 265 + 6, double columns of 25 lines. Assigned to the viith cent. by Tischendorf (note by him on last flyleaf) on account of its marked likeness to Cod. Amiatinus: to the viith cent. also by Traube (note in catalogue): to the viith cent. by more recent writers. In fine uncials on lines ruled with the dry point: words not divided. Beginnings of clauses are thrown out: the rest of the clause indented. First words of chapters in red. Sections (Eusebian-Ammonian) and headlines (occasional) in smaller hand. Each gospel is said to be in a distinct hand.

Most critics agree in thinking that it was written in Italy.

Collation: a<sup>2</sup>, gap, iii<sup>2</sup> iv<sup>8</sup>-xii<sup>8</sup> xiii<sup>10</sup> (wants 1 or 4) xiv<sup>8</sup>-xviii<sup>8</sup> (+ 8*) xix<sup>8</sup> (wants 1, 8) xx<sup>8</sup>-xxviii<sup>8</sup> xxix<sup>4</sup> (wants 4) xxx<sup>8</sup>-xxxvi<sup>8</sup> xxxvii<sup>4</sup>, b<sup>2</sup> c<sup>2</sup> d<sup>2</sup>.

Quires iv-xii have on their last page near the inner corner Q. IIII etc. in a hand at least near the time of the original. Most of the others have had a number written in cent. xiv on their first page. This has been erased in a majority of cases.

The vellum is of very unequal quality. The ink has disappeared in a good many places from the thinner sheets.

f. i blank except for a slight green stain caused perhaps by metal.

ii a has a small rust mark at top. On ii b is a bearded head cleverly sketched by an English hand of cent. x, xi?

Contents:

On 2 b is only Mattheus hominem in large capitals.

Text begins at top of f. 3. Liber generationis (in red).

This page bears some stains from a lost frontispiece.

A conspicuous corrector, who writes in black uncials, appears on f. 14, 15 etc.: he may be of cent. viii. A later corrector, English (ix?), writes haec on 14 b, imperavit on 18 a, muliere on 45 b etc.

On 29 a, col. 2, is seen a line written in the same script as the section-numbers.

See also 39 a, col. 1, and notably 58 b, col. 2, bottom.

Ends 74 a, colophon in rustic capitals, lines alternately red and black:

Text, beginning in red . . . . . 78

Between the columns is drawn a half-length figure of a being with lion's claws and ears, and human face, winged, holding a book (facsimile in Goodwin, l. c.). It is before this leaf that the leaf with the frontispiece seems to have stood : there are some colour-stains on 78 a.

91 a, col. 2, has been largely re-inked.

Ends 124 a. Colophon as before in red and black rustic capitals :

This manuscript was Bentley's B, Westcott's 23 (Dict. Bibl. art. Vulgate).

In the Nov. Test. Latine of Wordsworth and White it is X. It was collated for this edition by Dr A. W. Streane. It is no. 20 in Gregory's Prolegomena, p. 995.

The principal reproductions are in :

Garrucci, Storia dell' arte Cristiana III.

Mr H. J. White (Art. Vulgate in Hastings' Dict. Bib. IV 887) says of this MS. (according to tradition sent by Pope Gregory to Augustine) “the text does not bear out this supposition, it closely resembles that of the preceding MS. (Bodl. Auct. D. 2. 14) and is really Anglo-Saxon, though it has been corrected throughout in accordance with a MS. of the Amiatinus type.”

In spite of this complexion of the text it must be remembered that a large consensus of critics assign to the writing and paintings an Italian origin. It is of course possible that like the Codex Amiatinus this book may have been written by an Italian resident in England.

The latest discussion of the MS. which I have seen is that by Dom J. Chapman, Early History of the Vulgate Gospels (1908) 183 sqq., who disagrees with Mr White's conclusions. His final statement (p. 189) is: “The two noble volumes of Gospels [i.e. this MS. and the Bodleian Gospels, Auct. D. 2. 14] are old enough to be what they were believed to be; and I do not think the internal evidence of their readings can be shown to make this impossible.”

Traube (Nomina Sacra, p. 189, note 3) says: “Es hatten dñs die alten Handschriften, die aus Rom und Südtalien nach England durch Augustin und seine Nachfolger kamen, Handschriften, von denen wir selbst noch besitzen z. B. den Bonifatianus I in Fulda, die Evangelia S. Augustini Cambridge C. C. C. 286 und Würzburg Theol. Q. 2 (der Laudianus dagegen schreibt die Nomina sacra aus.)”

303. HOMILIAE SAXONICAE (IX).

 { T. James 285

Vellum,  $10\frac{1}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{8}$  ff. 184, 34 lines to a page. Cent. xii, in two hands, both very fine, clear and black.

Collation : 1<sup>s</sup> (1, 2 cut out and replaced in cent. xvi) 2<sup>s</sup>-23<sup>s</sup>.

There is an old foliation (of cent. xiv) first clearly visible on f. 2 (p. 3) where it stands as 46. 44 leaves of text have therefore disappeared.

The edges of two old leaves survive at the beginning. They carry a large double leaf of vellum ruled for double columns: now folded. On f. 2 is a Parkerian table of contents. The pagination which I use here begins after this.

A strip of vellum has been pasted over the top of f. 1, covering no doubt the end of a lost sermon. The title Homiliarum Saxonicarum Lib. 9<sup>us</sup> is written on this.

See Wanley, p. 133.

It is MS. D in Skeat's Aelfric's Lives (II, p. xiii). He uses it for the Homilies on Ash Wednesday, Mid Lent, All Saints, Auguries, Absalom and Achitophel.

Liebermann, Gesetze, calls it Cx and uses it for the excommunication form (p. 438).

See Anglia VI 446.

304. IUVENCUS.

{ N. 22
T. James 186

Vellum,  $9\frac{1}{5} \times 6\frac{1}{5}$ , ff. I + 115, 21 and 20 lines to a page. Cent. vii, in large uncials on lines deeply ruled with a dry point. Two scribes have been employed.

Collation : I flyleaf, A (three) I<sup>8</sup>-XIII<sup>8</sup>.

This is the oldest manuscript of Iuvenius.

The description furnished by Mr Bradshaw for Zangemeister in Sitzungsber. d. k. k. Akad. d. Wissensch. in Wien LXXXIV 553, and reprinted in Huemer's Iuvenius (Vienna Corpus), p. xxiv, may be given here :

MS. 304 in uncial letters probably of the viith century, consisting of three separate preliminary leaves, followed by 14 4-sheet quires, numbered in the centre of the lower margin of the last page of each quire. There was probably a 15th quire of 2 sheets, now lost, at the end of the volume. The pages contain 21 lines in the 1st, 13th and 14th quires, and 20 lines through the rest of the volume. The measurement is 10 inches by  $6\frac{3}{4}$  or 7 inches in breadth. The text is written continuously (not in verses), with punctuation at the end of each verse, and a larger and blacker letter at the beginning of each verse.

The three preliminary leaves are ornamentally written in large capitals (11 lines to a page), within borders, the first and last pages being enclosed in an arch, the rest within rectangular borders. They contain the verses known in connexion with St Isidore and his Library 'Sunt hic plura sacra' etc., but differing from those in the editions both in order and matter and containing only the Bible, Origines, Hilarius, Augustinus, Theodosius, ending up with 'ecce Iuencus adest tibi,' and on the opposite page the text of Iuencus begins without any rubric, the first preface being written in the same fancy capitals as the verses of St Isidore thus (4<sup>a</sup>); Mattheus instituit...the first preface ends (4<sup>b</sup>) Iohannis fremit—misteria uitae | caluetii: || aquilini: | siue iuenci: so far in large fancy capitals, then immediately in ordinary uncials: Immortale nihil—then on leaf 5<sup>b</sup> canentis, Dulcis iordanes ut xpo digna loquamur: ~ Rex fuit—leaf 36<sup>a</sup> tetigit seruator ihs. sana ministerium praebebat femina mensis: ~ ~ then at once in larger capitals: sapientissimi uiri Iuenci: xpiani: euangeliorum liber primus: explicit Incipit liber secundus caluetii ~ aquilini ~ Inde philippus ait ))) these last words are in red but in ordinary uncials, over leaf (36<sup>b</sup>) it proceeds: cernes dubitare quiesce et proprios huc saepe greges ad pocula duxit. Progrediens uide na oculis tueri licebit ad hoc seruator talia dicta detulit. Iamque dies—the 2nd book ends, and the 3rd begins thus (67<sup>a</sup>): turbasque reliquit. Explt Incpt liber tertius (in red) Fuderat—the 3rd book ends, and the 4th book begins (93<sup>b</sup>): hominum selectio fiet: Euangeliorum liber tertius explct (in red) Incpt eiusdem liber .. (in black) quartus p feliciter p (in red). Talia—The MS. breaks off book IV, verse 733, thus (115<sup>b</sup>) nunc meminisse decet qm planus ille solebat. The remaining lines, here wanting, would occupy nearly 3 leaves of the next quire, which probably consisted of four leaves only. There is no trace in the volume of the Library to which it belonged before the Reformation; the only entry which seems to have given this information on the first page has been carefully erased.

To this some remarks may be added.

As to the owners of the manuscript in medieval times. There is, as is stated above, an erasure at the top of f. 1. It is of one word only, of ten or twelve capital letters, apparently. The first letter might be A and the last S.

On the margin of f. 72 b is neatly written (x?) the word sugga.

On 75 b at top in pale ink (as noted by Marold) is the name Engelberga (in a German hand according to Traube).

The book has evidently been long in England. There are a good many marginal notes in an English hand of cent. viii or ix, rather rough. There are also a few interlinear glosses (all apparently in Latin) in a neater hand of cent. x (?). I incline to identify it with the "Juencus in Romana scriptura" which is mentioned in our oldest catalogue (xii) of Christ Church, Canterbury (Ancient Libraries, p. 11, no. 152). This had the mark HL, not now traceable in the manuscript.

Two features might suggest the possibility that the book has a connexion with Spain. These are (1) the occurrence of Saracenic arches in the ornament of the preliminary leaves, (2) the passages from Isidore of Seville inscribed thereon.

But though pages framed in horse-shoe arches do occur in early Spanish MSS. (e.g. those of Beatus on the Apocalypse) they also occur in Italian art: see for instance a Monte Cassino martyrology of cent. xii in Mr H. Y. Thompson's collection (Fifty MSS. I, p. 37). And the popularity of Isidore was early and wide-spread.

Nor is there any clear indication of Spanish habits of orthography in the text. On the whole, it is probably safer to regard the book as of Italian origin.

1 a. Framed in a Saracenic arch. The arch is divided into 17 compartments in each of which is an oval gem with a roughly circular eye.

The shafts are each divided into six compartments: each contains a rough pattern of leaves. Two sprays project from the top of each shaft.

The lettering on this page (and those which follow) is in capitals, drawn in outline with the pen and having the thick strokes coloured with yellow or green.

On ff. 1 b-3 a the writing is enclosed in rectangular frames; these are decorated, some with continuous patterns, others with devices in compartments: green, red and yellow are used.

On f. 3 b the frame takes the form of a Saracenic arch again.

On 4 a and most of 4 b the writing is still in outlined capitals, the strokes filled in with colour. The normal writing begins near the bottom of 4 b.

The colophon of Lib. I is curiously confused. I give a full transcript:

f. 36 a . Red capitals.	Sapientissimi uiri Iuuençi:
	xpiani: euangeliorum.
Black capitals filled with yellow.	Liber primus : explicit
Red.	Incipit liber secundus
Black capitals filled with yellow.	Caluetii : aquilini.
Red, smaller.	Inde philippus ait
f. 36 b . Black.	Cernes dubitare quiesce (II 110)
Red.	Et proprios huc saepe greges ad pocula duxit (II 264)
Black.	Progrediens uide nā oculis tueri licebit. (II 109*)
Red.	Ad hoc seruator talia dicta detulit. (Cf. II 425, etc.)

Text of Lib. II with red, yellow and green initial then begins:

Nomina sacra. D<sup>S</sup> X<sup>P</sup>S S<sup>C</sup>S S<sup>P</sup>S D<sup>N</sup>S I<sup>H</sup>S.

Neumes have been inserted in one or two places.

From c. 28 the chapters have titles in capitals.

C. 53 ends f. 52 a : Uiditque uidentes quos prius uidere negauit ;

Grates deo persoluens. dignas quas ullus reddere nescit ;

In a smaller script of the same period, but I think not by the same scribe, an acrostic follows :

E go licet uilis uernaculus Christi I ;
A diuatus gratia iusta depingen S ;
D omino donante digne quae feci T ;
U ota gud uenimus ad summ A ;
U oluminis istius fuerunt quip P<sup>2</sup> ;
A d decembri falendas (!) dies putat I ;

U iuenti preces fundere patr I ;
S emper in secula cui gloria mane T ;
(no space in the original, but a larger initial).
C larificis uirtutum armis ia M ;
A c seon regen moyses mirabile fat U ;

L	ate per mundum merito preconia	D ;
D	ecelebrant dum orci multar	E ;
V	ixerat in terris fulsit qui floribus it	A ;

L	aboris sancti premium iudicat auctor uita	E ;
A	ulam hanc atque nos gud uideat placido uult	U ;
C	uius nos credimus opitulatus precibus almi	S ;

There may be three acrostics here: certainly there are two. The first, of ten lines, is sufficiently plain, though the text contains mistakes (e.g. falendas for kalendas). The initials and finals read EADUUALDUS ISTA PINXIT. The meaning seems to be that the scribe by God's help has reached the end of his task, 20 days before the kalends of December, and asks for the prayers of the reader.

The six lines which follow are hexameters (of rather indifferent construction). The initials give CALDUG (i.e. Gudlac reversed). The finals at present give MUDEAA. I cannot doubt that they were meant to read GUDLAC. The first line in that case must have ended with a G: and, in fact, line 2 beginning Ac seon shows that an allusion to Og is wanted in line 1 (which is obviously imperfect).

Line 3 (also a short line) pretty plainly ended with David.

Line 4 (also short) needs a word ending with L (? Michael, Israel, mel).

Lines 5 and 6 both end with ita: in l. 6, a word like istac or illic or perhaps et lac is wanted.

I cannot undertake to restore the text so as to yield a good sense: but it is at least certain that the first line is imperfect and that the name of Og must have occurred in it.

The twelve remaining lines contain fragments of hexameters but cannot themselves be called hexameters. The initials and finals give respectively BEATUS GUDLAC and BARTHOLOMEUS. The connexion of St Bartholomew and St Guthlac is well known.

} T. James 282

Codex membranaceus in 4<sup>to</sup>, cujus prima pars seculo xii exarata continet,

1. Uberrimam collectionem sermonum seu homeliarum in dies festos, &c.

Ex S. Augustino precipue.

In secunda parte seculo vii scripta continentur,

2. Corpus canonum Anglicanorum, Theodori ut videtur lib. ii. quorum rubricas ectoris in gratiam apposui.

Liber primus.

- I. De crapula et ebrietate.
- II. De fornicatione.
- III. De auaritia furtiva.
- IV. De occisione hominum.
- V. De his qui per heresin decipiuntur.
- VI. De perjurio.
- VII. De multis et diversis malis et quæ non nocent necessaria.
- VIII. De diverso lapsu servorum Dei.
- IX. De his qui degradantur vel ordinari non possunt.
- X. De baptizatis bis qualiter peniteant.
- XI. De his qui damnant dominicam et indicta jejunia ecclesie Dei.
- XII. De communione eucharistie vel sacrificio.
- XIII. De reconciliatione.
- XIV. De penitentia nubentium specialiter.
- XV. De cultura idolorum.

Liber secundus.

- I. De ecclesie ministerio.
- II. De tribus gradibus ecclesie principalibus.
- III. De ordinatione diversorum.
- IV. De baptisate et confirmatione.
- V. De missa defunctorum.
- VI. De abbatibus et monachis vel monasterio.
- VII. De ritu mulierum vel ministerio in ecclesia.
- VIII. De moribus Græcorum et Romanorum.

IX. De communione Scottorum et Britonum qui in pascha et tonsura catholici non sunt.

X. De vexatis a diabolo.

XIII. De servis et ancillis.

XIV. De diversis questionibus.

3. X. Interrogationes beati Augustini episcopi Cantuariorum ecclesie cum responsionibus sancti Gregorii papae urbis Romae.

4. Pretium redimendi penitentiam unius diei vel anni, cum hac rubrica,

“Te nunc sancte speculator
Verbi Dei digni dator
Hæddi pie presul precor
Pontificum ditum decor
Pro me tuo peregrino
Preces funde Theodoro.”

Hinc patet codicem exaratum fuisse inter annum 690 quo decessit Theodorus, et annum 704, quo mortuus est Hædda episcopus Winton.

5. Ordo ad dandam penitentiam, qualiter episcopi vel presbiteri penitentes suscipere debeant.

Vellum,  $9\frac{1}{10} \times 6$ , ff. 114 + 54, two volumes. I, 37-40 lines to a page. Cent. xii, in a large clear script, cut at the top. II, 20 lines to a page, said to be “not later than cent. viii,” but this seems an exaggerated estimate of its age. It is in a fine bold minuscule not specially Anglian, rather Carolingian.

Titles in red capitals.

Immediately followed by a few lines on S. Genesius partly cut off.
—quasi per ludum baptizatus martir effectus est . . . . .	114
Lower part of f. 114 cut off; verso blank.

The contents including the miscellaneous extracts at the end correspond very closely with those of St John's College MS. K. 23.

II. The first leaf is written in a small neat regular hand in Anglo-Saxon:

Gelyfst þu on god ælfmihne 7 on þone sunu 7 on (ð)one halgan gast...Ic bidde þe ærest for godes lufon 7 for his ege þæt þu þin lif mid rihte lybbe 7 þinum drihtne mid eaðmedum hyre, etc.

God ælfmihne gefultumige us þæt we moton 7 magon godes miltse begytan ða hwile þe we on þisum earman life beon moton.

Not noticed by Wanley.

On the lower part of the verso in a later hand is a list of the contents of this part of the volume: perhaps written in cent. xi:

Canon Theodori. de Ratione penitencie. de diuersis questionibus. augustini questiones. gregorii responsiones. penitenciale. de trina domini incarnatione. de annis domini. de Ierosolima et rebus in ea gestis.

The next leaf is rather smaller in size and replaces a lost leaf which contained the beginning of the preface. It is ruled but blank and has on the verso a copy in red capitals of the rubric on the verso of the next leaf:

Incipit liber primus de crapula et ebrietate and below this the initial S.

With the next leaf (the third) the text begins imperfectly in the preface:

singularis scientie hominem (Haddan and Stubbs III 177)

—Credo enim hec eos bono

Here the recto ends. The last line and a half at top of verso are erased.

Then follows the rubric given above:

Text. Si quis episcopus.

Lib. II . . . . . p. 23

Inc. liber secundus de ecclesiae ministerio et re aedificatione eius.

Aeclesiam licet ponere in alium locum (H. and S., p. 190).

Ends p. 44:

quando desiderant uel possunt. si oportune non possunt finit.

This MS. is taken as the base of their text by Haddan and Stubbs (III 176).

The missing portions of the preface are supplied from other copies.

See also Wasserschleben (Bussordnungen, p. 182).

Interrogatio Beati Agustini Episcopi Cantuariorum aeccliesiae . . . . . 44

De episcopis qualiter cum suis clericis.

On p. 55 is the question about the relics of St Sixtus which is considered to be spurious (H. and S., p. 203 note).

Ends: ex dilectione quam portat inuitus.

At top of p. 71 in red capitals, and written as if it were the title to what follows, is:

Te nunc sancte speculator uerbi dei digni dator Hæddi/pie presul precor pontificum ditum decor pro me tuo/peregrino preces funde Theodoro.

Then follows:

Unius diei prætium de pane et aqua unus denarius . . . . . 71

Ending in a smaller script:

Item in alio loco indicatur c psalmos inuerno.

Inc. ordo ad dandam pænitentiam qualiter episcopi uel presbiteri penitentes suscipere debeant . . . . . 72

Quotiens cumque christiani ad penitentiam accedunt ieiunia eis

Ends unfinished 218 a . Verso blank.

This Postilla is to be found in MS. New College, Oxford 49. The author was a Franciscan.

After f. 139 is inserted part of a leaf of a beautifully written Anglo-Saxon manuscript of cent. xi early (?) containing the end of a Dialogue resembling those of Salomon and Saturn, Adrian and Ritheus, etc. of which several are printed in Kemble's Salomon and Saturn. I cannot however find the passage here preserved in any of them.

Sæge me hƿær ƿære gecƿeden ærest alleluia / ic ƿe secge be tƿih tƿam dunum. Tabor et Ermon / ƿær Daudid cƿæƿ ærest alleluia ƿonne tacniap ƿða duna / ƿa nypen æ 7 ƿa ealdan æ. Amen.

The verso is blank.

In Bede's Collectanea (ed. Coln, 1612, III 488) is the equivalent of part of the above :

Quis primus dixit Alleluia, aut in quo loco vel pro qua re dictum est? Inter Thabor et Hermon dictum est. Daudid propheta dixit alleluia hoc est laus dei. Augustinus dixit Alle seculum : lu, me fac : ia, Domine etc.

The fragment has escaped the notice of Wanley and of all subsequent students.

From the Library of Charles V of France.

The style of writing and ornament is fine French. Borders of ivy-leaf (with many gold leaves) springing from straight bands of gold and blue. Smaller initials, blue with red flourishing, and red with green-blue flourishing.

On ii b near upper L. corner: Charles.

F. i a is fully bordered. The miniature, a small square one, is much rubbed and part of the background scraped off. It represents the queen standing under a roof or canopy supported on gold shafts, a little white dog on R., on L. a Franciscan kneels and presents a gold book. Two shields are in the border below<sup>1</sup>.

The prologue was printed by M. L. Delisle in Notices et Extraits, 1886, t. XXXI, as also the Catalogue of Charles V's library in his Cabinet des MSS. III 192. A copy occurs in the catalogue of the Library of the Louvre, the 2nd folio beginning ter et reposer. Two copies in Barrois' Bibl. protypographique (Bruges Inventory of Bibl. de Bourgogne) no. 949 (le souverain Roy) and 950 (Et des biens que j'en ay eus) also 2131, 2 which are the same. Other copies are at Brussels, no. 9555, Brit. Mus. Add. 29986 as well as in the Bibliothèque Nationale.

The present copy is thus described in the Inventory of the Library of the Louvre drawn up in 1411.

329. IOH. BRAMIS HISTORIA WALDEI, ETC. { J. 10
T. James 100

Codex membranaceus in 4<sup>to</sup>, seculo xv scriptus, in quo continentur,

1. Historia Waldei quondam Norfolchiæ et Suffolchiæ regis eximii de Gallis et Anglis verbis in Latinum translata.

Ex prefatione, "Verum si cui forsitan libet translatoris agnitionem percipere, litteras capitales hujus operis aureas sibillicando perspiciat, quarum a sensu nomen ordo vel patria lucide inspicienti versu inveniente patefiet."

Litteræ vero aureæ de quibus agitur componunt hunc versum,
"DE: THETFORD: MONACHUS: BRAMIS: EDIDIT: ISTA: IOHANNES."

Historia porro fabulosa, in qua tempore Britonum frequens Normanniæ et Saracenorum mentio.

Vellum, 8 $\frac{9}{10}$  × 6 $\frac{1}{8}$ , ff. 4 + 122 + 5, 39 and 32 lines to a page. Cent. xv early, in a clear rather narrow hand, with good ornaments.

From the Cluniac priory of Thetford in all probability: but be it noted that the compiler of art. 5 had considerable interest in the small priory of Ixworth, not far off.

The flyleaves at the beginning are from a well-written Canon Law MS.: they are folded.

At top of f. 1, glocestre (xv-xvi) and some Parkerian notes. ff. 1-4 are otherwise blank.

Contents:

Each Homily has heading in uncials, and initial in outline usually with animal forms, beaked fishes, etc. Hom. 14 has its title and initial touched with green. In Hom. 18 title and initial have some washing of red as well as green, and red dots about some of the letters. The small initials in the text about here are similarly coloured and dotted. This ornamentation affects all quire 7 (ff. 48-55).

HOM. 39 ends f. 111 a: offerre ei mu/nera quę nobis restituat. Et pro terrenis cęlestia lar/giatur in x'po ih'u. Cui est gloria et imperium in secula seculorum amen.

On f. 97 b written in "pencil" down the left side of the page in very irregular characters is this very interesting inscription. A few letters have gone through cropping:

i.e. Fortunatus scripsit istum librum orate pro illum (!).

Very probably this book came from the same place as no. 193 (? Corbie). A note in the Catalogue gives Dr Traube's opinion that it is French, probably Northern.

Text. Superbia est elatio uitiosa que inferiorem despiciens.

This is given by Tanner as the incipit of Grosseteste's Summa de uitiiis (from Univ. Libr. LL. 1. 15). It occurs in Laud Misc. 544 (8 ff. only) ending: reprehensibiles exhibit clericos: followed by Egredietur virga and other sermons.

At top of f. 148 are some lines in English:

Wo so sit at te hale cuppe to kippe ·ant ne his nout on haise mit te drie lippe · De deuul sal in helle mit his soule wippe.

The end of this tract is not clearly marked. It seems to disappear into miscellaneous questiones and sermons, with many exempla.

On 169 b is a heading: Sermo de b. Maria Magd. sec. fratrem Walt'.

Babylon dilecta mea posita es michi in miraculum.

From about 186 the headings are alphabetical. Adam—Ignorancia.

On 201 the hand changes and we end with a series of stories mainly from the Vitae Patrum.

On the last page the "merita visionis corporis Christi" in another hand.

3. Petri de Yckham compilatio de gestis Britonum ac Anglorum ad annum 1327.

The margins are full of erased entries (see Chronicles of Stephen, etc. III, p. lxxi).

On f. 10 (margin) is a late note of the foundation of Cricklade university, and on 13 in the same hand a note of the foundation of Oxford. A few other notes in the same hand occur.

At 24 b is a break, the text ends (in 1138)

Brianus firmavit Walingeford et oxoniam. After this a note by Bale (?), vsque ad annum do<sup>i</sup> 1245 apud Thomam knyght bibliopolam.

So far the text, as pointed out by Dr Luard (Annales Monast.

II p. xi), is the source of the Winchester Annals (Domit. XIII): the resemblance is fairly exact down to 1066.

2. In the same hand, beginning with a red initial . . . f. 25

Uenerabili patri et semper domino Rob. olim priori Wintoniensi ecclesie: Suus Ricardus dictus diuisiensis.

This Chronicle was last edited by Howlett, Chronicles of Stephen, etc. II 381-454 (and Introd. LXVIII sqq.).

It ends f. 43 b: de gratia gentilium consequeretur.

The colophon (if any) is obscured by a patch (the greater part of two leaves) of a closely written xiiith cent. Canon Law MS. pasted over the lower part of 43 b.

There is but one other copy of this Chronicle (Domit. XIII) in the same hand: according to Howlett both are in the autograph of Richard of Devizes. He assigns the date 1192-1202 to both MSS.

11. 3. On the margins of the patch stuck on 43 b are some xvth cent. notes referring to the following treatise.

Hec Historia explicit in ultimo anno Henrici (corr. to Edwardi) secundi. Hoc est a. d. 1327. Verisimile est hunc Authorem fuisse Petrus de Ickham. et alius quispiam ab a<sup>o</sup> 1272 continuauit historiam ad annum 1327. vide Bale 327.

In libro qui dicitur Miscellanea Cantabrigiae fol. 135 Et illic introducitur Johannes ep. seruus seruorum dei qui fecit Cantabrigiam uniuersitatem tempore Edouardi 2<sup>i</sup> etc.

Another annotator refers to the Bull of Honorius 624.

A third adds: Forte author huius non fuit Rad. Remington notarius publicus Ebor. qui vixit a. d. 1430 ut in recordis Cantabrig. et in pag. 126 in Miscellanea Cantabrig. apparet.

Are some of these notes by Dr Caius?

All this points to the book having been at Lilleshull or in its neighbourhood when this was written.

The Laudian MS. Misc. 730 (in the Bodleian Library) of "Peter of Ickham" (which ends at 1272) has the note "Hic multa

{ 9. I
 T. James 325

Paper, 15 × 10 $\frac{3}{8}$ , pp. 166 written. Cent. xvi, in a good clear hand.

It is a transcript of MS. 452 and according to the belief of Mr Rule (Eadmeri Historia, Rolls Series, p. xii) was made at Cambridge while MS. 452 was in the possession of Dr Henry Johns. A letter from Robinson Bp of Bangor to Parker (114, no. 179) deals with a transcript of Eadmer's History.

Loose in the book is a vellum leaf ( $6\frac{1}{8} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$ ) with 33 lines of text to a page in the Christ Church hand. On this see Mr Rule, p. 1 (and xi). It is "of identical penmanship with" no. 452 and contains the text of pp. 233-5 of the edition beginning: permissum est. Zepherinus quoque martir, and ending: quapropter uident suum est consecret.

Another vellum leaf in the same hand, also loose in the book, has the capitula (35) of the Vita Anselmi of Eadmer, lib. I: on this is the name:

Joannis Episcopi London.

i.e. John Stokesley, 1530.

See Rule, p. xi, etc. and pp. 305-7 where the text of the capitula is given, with the variants of this leaf.

342. HISTORIA ROFFENSIS.

{ 9. 2
T. James 326

Codex chartaceus in folio, in quo continetur,

Chronicon desumptum ex historia Roffensi ab anno 179 ad annum 1377.

“Hæc omnia desumpta sunt ex historia Roffensi, quam ut verisimile est tres monachi ejusdem ecclesiæ sese ordine in opere succedentes composuere : non enim est unius sonus totius orationis, non idem stylus ; sed triplex quidem ratio constructionis. Quorum monachorum primus deducit historiam ab mundi initio ad obitum Henrici III. ad annum videlicet Domini 1273, quando apparet monachum claruisse ; alter adjecit historiam Edwardi I. filii prefati Henrici, qui obiit anno Domini 1307 ; reliquam persecutus est monachorum tertius : quibus autem appellationibus fuere hi monachi me latet.”

Duas priores partes hujus historiæ, videlicet ad annum 1307, Edmundo de Haddenham ascribendas putat Cl. Whartonus, et tertiam partem monachum ejusdem cenobii autorem non habuisse quod in ea nulla fit mentio de rebus Roffensibus.

Chronico præmittitur brevis historia de ecclesiis fundatis ante adventum Normannorum in Anglia ex eodem libro Roffensi.

Paper, 14 $\frac{1}{8}$  × 10, ff. 130 written, in several hands of cent. xvi, some extremely good.

Contents :

Britannia primo fidem Christi suscepit anno 179 ut ueriores annales commemorant per lucium tunc temporis regem.

Eleutherus papa sedit in chathedra Romana annis quindecim mensibus sex.

Ends 129 b : 1377. Hoc anno cardinalis Angliæ —et in festo eiusdem magdalene spiritum exhalavit.

Then follows the note : Hec omnia desumpta sunt ex historia Roff.

The volume is evidently a transcript of Nero D. 2 (on which see Luard, Flores Historiarum I p. xxvi). Wharton, Angl. Sacr. I 341 (and p. xxxi) printed a great part of the passages relating to Rochester. Nero D. 2 formerly belonged to Joscelin, and the note mentioned above was written by him therein.

Donum Reuerendi Viri Rogeri Flint A.M. Norfolciensis Presbyteri dignissimi et hujus Collegii olim alumni.

He was admitted in 1632, M.A. 1641, elected Fellow but never admitted: Chaplain to Charles I and published Edw. Boyse's Sermons in 1672 (Masters, p. 468).

Collation: i<sup>8</sup>-xx<sup>8</sup> xxi<sup>6</sup>.

From Christ Church, Canterbury. No mark remains, and the hand is not that characteristic of the house. But the opening words of f. 2 agree with an entry in Ingram's list (Anc. Lib., p. 157, no. 125):

Hilarius de trinitate. Idem de sinodis. 2 fo. atque omnipotentiam.

See also no. 886 in Eastry's Catalogue, (l. c., p. 87).

Though given by Roger Flint and not occurring in T. James, it occurs in Parker's list. Very probably it had been separated from its companions soon after Parker's death, and was absent in 1599 or so, when T. James wrote: it may have been subsequently found by Flint and restored to the College.

A tauro torrida lampade cinthii Ending:

Dux meus manibus me capit insitis (l. 410).

V. 22 lines to a page: a fine minuscule of cent. xi? Initials filled with red.

7. Life of St Kenelm, beginning imperfectly in c. ii . . . 45 forma. perfusus diuina dilectione et gratia deo et hominibus amabilis erat aetatula.

The original hand ends in c. viii: diuinorum miracula beneficiorum commendant. A hand of cent. xii continues and, writing very close, ends on the same page. It begins: martirem suum quem et ab humana noticia abscondere nitebatur: and ends: occubuerit. ad laudem et gloriam dei patris omnipotentis qui uiuit et regnat per omnia sec. sec. Amen.

Under this is a scribble of a maze in pencil.

The same Life (abridged in Acta SS. July IV 380, and in Horstmann, Nova Legenda Angliae II 110) is in MS. Douce 368 and Bodl. 285.

On the verso a line and a half in a small hand giving a list of books.

Francorum gentis exordia de antiqua troianorum prodiere prosapia.

Good outline initial with some red.

Marginalia by an English scholar (xvi early).

The book is illustrated with pictures, usually outline in brown and red: of Emperors seated full-face with crown and sceptre. They are as follows:

1. f. 14 a. Pippinus rex francorum pater karoli magni.
Under architecture: jewelled throne. In frame.
2. f. 24 a. Karolus magnus pippini filius.
With orb and sceptre: upright objects (candles?) on the arms of the throne.
Lib. II. f. 24 b.
3. f. 28. Pius lûdewicus, karoli magni filius.
Youthful, orb and sceptre, jewelled throne.
4. f. 31. Lûdewicus superioris lûdewici filius.
Bearded.
5. f. 33 b. Karolus iunior filius pii lûdewici.
6. f. 34 b. Arnolfus filius Karlomanni fratris karoli iunioris.
7. f. 36 b. Lûdewicus arnolfi imp. filius lxxviii<sup>o</sup> loco ab augusto admodum puer imperium susceperit.
8. f. 39. Cûnradus fil. cûnradi quem Adelbertus occidit francorum ex genere oriundus.
Sceptre ending in flabellum.
9. f. 40. Henricus genere saxo fil. ottonis ducis.
A peculiar crown.
10. f. 42 b. Ôtto magnus henrici filius.
11. f. 47. Ôtto secundus magni ottonis filius.
Bird on sceptre.
12. f. 48 b. Ôtto tercius ottonis sec. fil. admodum puer lxxxiii<sup>o</sup> loco ab aug. romanum imperium suscepit et annis xviii regnavit.
13. f. 51. Henricus sec. primum dux baioarie deinde ottone tercio absque filii defuncto in regni proeuectus culmine lxxxiii<sup>o</sup> loco ab aug. regnum accepit.
14. f. 53. Cûnradus ex regni primoribus unus etc.

15. f. 55 b. Henricus tercius cûnradi imp. fil. etc.
16. f. 60. Henricus quartus henrici imp. fil. etc.
Moustached: bird on sceptre. This is figured in MGH. SS. VI, pl. II, and Eisengrein's Kultur-Histor. Bilderatlas xxxiv 3, Stacke, Deutsche Geschichte, 1880, I 79.
17. f. 83. Full page, coloured and in patterned frame, once silvered, now black, grounds blue and dark red.
Henricus quintus.

Under an arch with battlemented gable, and turrets, above. The Emperor on L. holding sceptre and wearing diadem receives orb from an archbishop in close-fitting mitre (like skull-cap), red chasuble, pall with green crosses, stole, tunicle, alb, with long staff. Both stand.

Figured in MGH. SS. vi, pl. II.

Lib. III, f. 83 b.

18. f. 95 b. Wedding feast of Henry and Matilda. They sit full-face at table, crowned; on each side a tonsured cleric. Two attendants on the nearer side of the table.

Figured l. c. pl. I.

Text ends f. 96 b :

nisi quod testabantur quendam suum ministerialem nimis ferociter dominium in suis partibus exercere.

The flyleaves at the end are, one from a xvth cent. English service-book: the other, part of a xth cent. copy of a deed. The edges are cut all round. It reads :

The date is 810. Bishop Wolfger died in 832.

On the back is also a xiiiith cent. scribble (English hand):

Alexander seruus, etc.

Episcopo rofensi pari.

There is a full description of the MS. in the Archiv f. Deutsch. Gesch. VII 493 by Pertz who saw it in 1827 and uses it in the Scriptores. He considers it to be an autograph of Ekkehard and points out that the work is dedicated to Henry V, whose widow Matilda probably brought it to England. It is in three books. Lib. I from the beginnings to Charles the Great; Lib. II from 800 to 1106 (760-784 being lost with the 3rd quire); Lib. III from 1106 to 1113, then continued by the same hand to 1125. It was doubtless written at Urach. The text was collated by Hampe throughout in 1896 (Neues Archiv, XXII 669).

- This then is a versification of Osbern's work, probably by the author of no. 1. The Passion begins:
 Floruit insignis pater Ælfegus generosa
 De radice fluens ac summe religiosa.
- Breaks occur:
 Uenerat interea presul Wentanus ad astra . . . . . 65 b

On SS. Peter and Paul:

Salue festa dies totum celebranda per orbem . . .	119
Martirii duplicis lumine clara micans ... Hac etenim Petrus Paulo comitante triumphans Ad supera sedes ampla trophea tulit ... Nos igitur tantis ducibus iubilemus eorum Poscentes meritis perpete luce frui.

In a quite different and very rough hand:

On Christmas (?):

Salue festa dies celebri recolenda triumpho . . .	119 b
Quam celebrat sponso sponsa dicata suo ... Ergo sequamur eam uirtutum dona ferentes Ad salomona pium nos pia uita trahat Sancta syon nos ad christum trahat ex aquilone Partis in australis nos regione locans.

It seems to me that the book must be a production of the scriptorium of St Albans sent probably as a present to Christ Church.

Answer of W. de Valentia, a seneschal of a great noble, to Ioh. fil. Gaufr. baronum Anglie tunc temporis sapientissimo, who complained of an injury: Si dominus meus tibi fecit iniuriam, quis tibi faciet inde iusticiam, etc. (p. 57).

p. 59. Simon de Montfort and the Provisions of Oxford are mentioned. The author says:

Michi autem uidetur quantum ad originem cause, salua tamen reuerencia sanius forte sciencium, quod omnino necessaria fuit legum correctio in Anglia. et ideo prauis consiliis agitari dominum regem. qui irritare presumpsit pactum quod tam sollempniter pepigerat cum hominibus suis sicut fecit aliquando pater eius ante aliam guerram. quod multorum malorum origo fuit.

387. HAMPOLE ON THE PSALMS.

{ I. I
T. James 305

A parchment book in folio, neatly written in the xv century, containing Richard Hampole's commentary on the Psalms.

The text is in Latin and the commentary in English: after the Psalms are the following hymns with a like commentary, — Confitebor tibi Domine Isaiah XII. — Ego dixi in dimidio dierum meorum Isaiah XXXVIII. 10. — Exultavit cor meum 1 Sam. II. 1. — Cantemus Domino Exod. XV. — Domine audivi auditionem Hab. III. — Audite cœli Deut. XXXII. — Te Deum laudamus. — Benedictus Dominus Luke I. 68. — Benedicite omnia opera. — Nunc dimittis Luke II. 29. — Symbolum Athanasii. — Magnificat anima mea Luke II. 46. — Litania sive supplicatio sanctorum Anglice.

Vellum,  $17\frac{3}{8} \times 12$ , ff. 115 + 1, double columns of 54 lines. Cent. xv, very well written with some beautiful English ornament.

On the lower margin of f. 2 a in large letters is:

Iste liber Constat dompno Johanni Colman Abbati Monasterij de lesnes (an Augustinian priory near Woolwich, otherwise called Westwood).

Also on 82 b:

Iste liber constat dompno Joh. Colman Abbatis(!) monasterij de lesnes in Com. Kanc.

Contents:

Beatus uir, etc. In þis psalme first he spekith of crist . . . 1*b*
Full border, of very good work.

Initial, David in blue seated harping, ground dark, trellised with gold and patterned.

At the lower angles lozenge-shaped medallions with two kings, one in light blue on darker blue ground, the other pink on darker pink. Above on R. an angel, blue on blue.

f. 21. Dominus illuminatio. Fine border, the right portion torn off. Excellent initial, pink on pink.

Other fine borders at ff. 30*b*, 40*b*, 50, 62*b*, 73, 83, 103 (the last to the Cantica).

The penwork of the subordinate initials is excellent.

On 113 is scribbled Sum W. Eden (?).

Ends with the Litany (in English).

Martyrs: Seint Richard. Confessors: Seint William. Virgins: Pernel, Radegunde, Freswithe, Audre.

Ending 115*b*: Pes be maad in þi vertu. And plente in þi tours.

On the lower margin is written very neatly in red and black, the reverse way of the page, a series of verses:

Quid valet oceano multos inmittere pisces
Addere uel celo sidera stellifero

Quid valet ad summum nos attramenta papirus
Atque operam totam perdere quotidie
Quamuis multa tibi nonnuncquam carmina missem
Pro mercede tamen nulla latina michi
etc.

A few late names and other scribbles on the flyleaf.

The commentary was edited in 1884 by H. R. Bramley, Oxford, from MS. Univ. Coll. 64, and another edition is being prepared for the Early English Text Society.

Initial of text, gold on blue, salmon pink within. Half-length of Geoffrey in mitre, green chasuble with pall, over blue, holding long cross and blessing. Edged with green.

Lib. 11, p. 29, decorative initial as before: another on p. 30.

A Parkerian copy of a marginal addition is added on a slip opposite p. 38.

pp. 61-64 are of smaller size.

There are a good many marginal additions not uniformly noticed as such by Brewer, but incorporated into his text. They are in another, but not much later hand. The text ends 35<sup>b</sup>:

ad hoc perperandum tam horrendum. Brewer, p. 426.

The remainder is to be found in the Symbolum Electorum of Giraldus of which the only complete copy is at Trinity College (R. 7. 11). From this Brewer has printed it.

Vigils of the Dead, without music . . . . . p. 705
 Collects are added by a later hand on pp. 711, 12.

§ 7. In the first hand (?).

Prognostics in Anglo-Saxon, beginning imperfectly . . . . . 713 kinungum 7 ricum mannum bið mycel syb þy geare. Cf. Cockayne, Leechdoms III 166, l. c. (from MS. Junius 23). Also M. Förster, Archiv 117 p. 369, 120 p. 45, etc.

On p. 718 is a Latin section:

Luna I quicquid uideris in gaudium conuertitur. Beatus uir qui non abiit. Luna II, luna III effectum habent nec in animo ponas.
 Adstiterunt reges terre. Tu autem domine suscepisti.

...Luna XXX In triduum fiet somnum caue. (D)iligite dominum omnes sancti eius.

Continues: Þonne se mone bið anre nihte eald sƿa hƿæt sƿa þu ge sihst ƿe kymð to gefean, etc. . . . . 720

—þ sƿefen agæð butan sƿecednesse.

Compare the very similar prognostics in Cockayne, Leechdoms III
 154 and 158, from other MSS.

Then four lines in the tremulous hand (see on no. 12, etc.) on days for blood-letting.

þreo dapes beoþ on tƿeolf moneþ. þ.. / beoþ sƿuþe unhaleƿende monne oþer / nutene. blod vnto forletene. oþer drue to / drinkene. þet is þe æftemeste monandai (unfinished).

Lower part of the leaf cut off. p. 722 blank.

On 723, in a hand like the first, are Responds for the Sundays in Advent, and the seven O's, ending in O clavis dauid. The last page is pasted over.

The Community of Benedictine nuns at Stanbrook in Worcestershire have work in hand upon this book. Mr W. H. Frere gives a list of contents, which I have used, in Wordsworth and Littlehale's Old Service-Books of English Church, p. 75 note. Mr Edmund Bishop in The Bosworth Psalter gives many extracts from the Kalendar.

The music has been examined recently by the Benedictines of Solesmes.

Quod tempus et diem iudicii. Initial with something of Celtic flavour. From 102 to 115 a the ink is paler and the hand seems different. On 115 b the former aspect is resumed. The old hand ends imperfectly in cap. lvi (135 b ). Quod tamen utrum in reprobis habeatur est fortasse ambiguum quia iuxta. ff. 136 to end are a supply in a good clear hand of cent. xii: ending 139 a . uenire ad regnum cuius nullus est finis. Expl. 139 b , 140 are blank (140 b pasted over).

There are a few corrections of cent. xii, very possibly in English hands, but I have not found any notes or scribbles which give a clue to the monastic provenance.

Contents :

I. 1. On 1*a* is a late note erased. 1*b* blank. On 2*a* verses (xvi) copied, "in fine 3<sup>i</sup> libri." On 2*b* a map (in brown and green) of the British Isles. Aquilo is on L., Britain, Ireland and the Orkneys are shown, without any real attempt to give the outline: and no places are marked. An exactly similar map is in Arundel MS. 14 (Brit. Mus.). See Dimock, Girald. Camb. v, p. xviii.

Text in a fine hand of cent. xiii early, double columns of 36 lines.

2 fo. lem a puncto

It is MS. C in Dimock's edition (l. c., p. xiv) and ranks as a MS. of the Second Edition, but has many marginal additions and some inserted leaves which 'if considered an integral part of the manuscript' would make it rank as a MS. of the Third Edition.

The modern foliation omits what I have called ff. 1, 2. I use it here :

Introitus in recitationem. Consideranti . . . . . f. 1

Good initial, gold, with external blue and internal pink ground.

Capitula, 2*b*.

Text. Placuit excellentie . . . . . 5

Large initial. Pink ground within, Giraldus on L. tonsured, in purplish habit offers gold book to Henry II in pale pink and yellow, seated on R. with crown and sceptre. Small medallions in stalk of initial represent a fish, a bird and two beasts.

Distinctio 11, 17*b*. Centaur on blue ground in initial.

f. 24 is added.

Distinctio 111, 31*b*. Shipful of men and women in the initial

IV. Four leaves in a beautiful hand of cent. xiii late, in double columns of 41 lines: written as prose: in red and black. A copy of the verses in the windows of Canterbury Cathedral. It was not known to me when I published the text from the Roll in possession of the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury (C. A. S., Verses formerly inscribed on the Twelve Windows, etc. 1901).

Prima fenestra moyses cum rubo.

Ends 4a: Approbat extractus latebris sit (fit) papa coactus.

The text is essentially the same, preserving exactly the same order, as that of the Roll: but one or two mistakes of the latter may be corrected from this. There are indications that the Roll must have been copied from this text.

The principal improvements of the text which I have noted may be given here:

p. 13. Fenestra prima, last line:

Read Operuit celos gloria eius et laudis eius plena est terra.

Fenestra secunda, line 5:

Qui sequitur me non ambulat in tenebris.

p. 18. Fenestra vi, line 9:

Hii sunt qui credunt temptanti sicque recedunt.

line 18: Iob. Daniel. Noe. semen cecidit in terram bonam.

p. 21. lines 1—3:

Hic stater extractus precium datur in cruce factus

Ludibrium turbe deus est eiectus ab urbe.

p. 24. line 13: tegit ecce mariam.

401. LIBER ARABICUS.

{ Misc. 24
{ T. James 383

Paper, 8½ × 6, ff. 244 + 6, 25 lines to a page. Cent. xvi, in the Maghrabi character.

At the beginning are five leaves of a thick woolly paper which seem a good deal earlier than the rest. These are portions of larger leaves folded so that the writing comes vertically. There is also another leaf of smaller size.

The volume must have been acquired from an English source by Parker: otherwise he would not have had written on f. 1 (as he has done):

Hic liber quondam fuit Theodori archiepiscopi Cantuariensis (!!!).

Professor E. G. Browne has very kindly given me the following note on the contents of the volume:

1. A theological treatise by Násiru'd-Dín 'Abdu'lláh ben 'Umar al Baydawí, who died A.H. 716, entitled:
Tawáli 'u'l-Anwár.
See Ahlwardt's Catalogue of Arabic MSS. at Berlin, no. 1772.
2. A commentary on the above, entitled:
Matáli 'u'l-Anđhár,
by Shamsu'd-Dín Maḥmúd ben 'Abdu'r-Rahmán al Isfahání, who died of the plague at Cairo in A.H. 749 or 750.
See Rieu's Supplement to the Arabic Catalogue, pp. 112, 113 (no. 186).

This copy is mentioned in the Camden Society edition of the Ancren Riwle (by J. Morton, 1853, p. vi) but is not used for the constitution of the text: an extract given by Wanley (p. 149) is reprinted at p. xxiii.

The most original text, in a different dialect, seems to be the imperfect copy at Gonville and Caius (no. 234).

The C. C. C. MS. has been transcribed for the Early English Text Society; specimens (from this transcript) are given in Anglia 1907, p. 103 etc. by Dr Heuser. In the Modern Language Review (July 1909) Professor A. S. Napier deals with Dr Heuser's article, and shows that certain prayers were copied from this MS. and archaic forms designedly introduced into them, by W. L'isle. His copy is in the Bodleian MS. Laud. Liber fratris Symonis Prioris Norwic.

and added is the press-mark S. xxiiij.

The owner was Simon Bozoun, Prior of Norwich (1344-52). A list of his books is in Royal MS. 14, c. xiii, printed in Giralde. Cambr. Rolls Series v xxxix note. It appears there as no. 26. Liber itinerariorum prec. xls. See also no. 264.

1. Itinerarium fratrum Symonis Semeonis et Hugonis illuminatoris, ordinis fratrum minorum professorum, ad terram sanctam A.D. 1322.

2. Itinerarium fratris Willelmi de Rubruk de ordine fratrum minorum anno gratiæ MCCLIII ad partes orientales.

Desunt multa ad finem.

3. Itinerarium fratris Odorici ordinis fratrum minorum de mirabilibus orientalium Tartarorum.

4. Liber de terræ partibus et diversis provinciis.

Regiones ordine alphabetico describuntur: desiderantur quædam ad finem.

Vellum,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 6$ , ff. 2 + 70, 28 lines to a page. Cent. xv, very clearly written.

Collation: a<sup>2</sup>, 1<sup>8</sup>-6<sup>8</sup> (8 canc.) 7<sup>8</sup>-9<sup>8</sup> (8 canc.).

Very possibly from Bury. On ia is an old press-mark C. 4 which would suit the Bury Library, but is more roughly done than usual.

ii b has Parkerian table of contents.

Contents:

Joh. Capgrave de illustribus Henricis.

Henrico dei gratia regi anglie et francie...frater iohannes (capgrave added later above line in what is said to be Bale's hand<sup>1</sup>) doctor minimus, etc.

Ends p. 139:

et in puritate corporis et anime decedat. ad laudem d. n. I. C. qui cum deo patre et sp. s. viuit et regnat in sec. sec. amen.

ffeliciter per Capgrave.

This is one of two extant copies of the book, the other being Tiberius A. VIII. This one is the autograph of the author. The book was edited by F. C. Hingeston in 1858 for the Rolls Series. He gives a full account of it on pp. li-liiii of his introduction.

409. M. T. CICERO DE FINIBUS.

{ N. 28
 { T. James 203

Vellum,  $8 \times 5\frac{1}{2}$ , ff. 84, 30 lines to a page. Cent. xv, in a beautiful small Roman hand. 2 fo. nostrum scribendi.

Collation: 1<sup>10</sup>-8<sup>10</sup> 9 (four).

At top of f. 1 in what seems an Italian hand is a press-mark L. 8.

The rubrics (in capitals) are very faint and the decorative initials also.

Contents :

410. MUSICA.

{ N. 25
 { T. James 183

Vellum and paper,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 6$ , ff. 36 + 15, 34 and 24 lines to a page. Cent. xv and xv late.

Collation: 1<sup>8</sup> 2<sup>10</sup> 3<sup>8</sup> 4<sup>8</sup> 5 (two) || a<sup>16</sup> (wants 16).

A stain runs through the lower margin of the book.

Contents :

36*b* blank.

The author is also known as Walter of Odington. A short article in Grove, Dict. of Music IV 734, describes this manuscript, the only complete copy. The text is in Coussemaker, Scriptores I 182-250.

II. Paper.

Quinque sunt partes prolacionis(?) videlicet maxima, etc.

Probably an abridgment of a tract by Joh. de Muris.

There is a break at f. 10*b*:

dicitur ascendentis dicti breuis est, etc.

f. 11 continues:

Omnis proporcio est communiter dicta vel proprie dicta. proporcio proprie dicta est habitudo duarum rerum comparatus.

Ends with a short paragraph: In omnibus coloribus albus est dignissimus.

411. PSALTERIUM (CANTUARIENSE).

{ N. 10
T. James 174

Vellum,  $8\frac{3}{10} \times 6$ , ff. 3 + 146, 23 lines to a page. Cent. x, in a good black minuscule, probably written at Tours, but with some ornament added in England.

Collation: a (three) 1<sup>8</sup>-17<sup>8</sup> 18<sup>4</sup> | 19<sup>8</sup>.

An inscription on f. 140*b* of cent. xvi runs thus:

Hoc psalterium laminis argenteis deaurat'is et gemmis ornatum, quondam fuit .N. Cantuar. Archiepiscopi, tandem venit in manus Thomae Becket quondam Cant. archiepiscopi quod testatum est in veteri scripto.

On f. 2*a* of text is an erasure, apparently beginning psalterium.

The occurrence of the Gospel for the feast of St Elphege confirms the tradition that the book was at Canterbury.

Contents:

ff. i, ii a blank. On ii b, iii a in hand of cent. xii, with music on 4-line stave, are the notations for Benedicamus domino, Ite missa est. On iii b Dom. in palmis, Hely, hely, etc. The same for Feria tertia. For Feria IIII, Pater in manus tuas. Feria VI, Consummatum est.

Some original leaves have gone before the present fol. 1.

On 1 a is the end of the Pseudo-Augustinian passage Canticum psalorum animam decorat (CXXXI 142, CXLII 46). It begins here at "cor laetificat," etc., ending: animam suam in caelo mirificabit in saec. saec. Amen.

On 1 b a fine frame in colour with panels of excellent interlaced work and some birds' heads at the angles. Within it is a fine full-length figure in outline in the Anglo-Saxon style of a bearded man with fillet about his head, holding a book. The drapery is excellent.

Below, the initials W. S., very small.

The text of the Psalter begins f. 2: plain gold initial to Beatus.

The words Beatus vir in red and green capitals.

Initials to verses alternately in red and a peculiar green.

Titles of Psalms are in red rustic capitals.

The first few Psalms have copious interlinear glosses in Latin, but after about Ps. xii these become very scanty.

f. 40 a (Ps. li Quid gloriaris) has full-page frame with interlaced work (white on black) and large initial with similar work. Green and yellow-brown are conspicuous colours here.

f. 81 b (Ps. ci Domine exaudi) has also a full-page frame with panels of interlaced work. This is specially interesting because the colours have to a large extent not been put in, and the pattern remains in outline. Purple is the only colour which has been added: part of the outline here is in red.

Dixit dominus has a larger initial than the rest, but it is quite a plain one.

After Ps. cl 123 b: in red capitals,

Alleluia. Explicient psalmi.

Psalmus ipsi David. Pusillus eram (Ps. 151) . . . . . f. 123 b

Cantica . . . . . 124

On 130 a are two corrections very plainly in the Christ Church hand.

The Cantica end with:

Benedictus, Magnificat, Te deum, Nunc dimittis, Ymnus angelicus (i.e. Gloria in excelsis), Pater noster, Credo, Fides S. Anasthasii episcopi.

Pura oratio ad dominum cum intercessionibus sanctorum omnium 137

Inc. Letaniae . . . . . 137

Apostles: Petre in capitals.

Martyrs: Stephane in capitals, line, clete, clemens, sixte, laurenti, yppolite, dionisi, rustice, eleutheri, corneli, iuste, cypriane.

Confessors: Silvester (capitals), gregori, hilari, martine, ambrosi, geronime, augustine, remegi, benedicte, paule, antoni, machari.

Virgins: Felicitas (capitals), perpetua, agatha, lucia, agnes, cecilia, petronella, eufemia, anastasia, scolastica.

Suffrage. Ut congregationem nostram.

On 138<sup>b</sup> a series of prayers.

Or. ad nouem ordines angelorum. Deus qui lapso lucifero ad patriarchas et prophetas.

ad chorum apostolorum.

” ” SS. martyrum.

ad omnes confessores. (Gregory and Augustine mentioned.)

ad S. mariam et omnes SS. virgines.

Pro nostris infirmitatibus . . . . . f. 139<sup>b</sup>

Pro pace postulanda.

Pro uenia populi.

f. 140 is in a beautiful upright round hand of cent. xi.

Inc. Letaniae.

Apostles: Petre II (capitals)..... simon, iuda, mathia, marce, luca, marcialis.

Martyrs: Stephane, maximiane, iustine, contestor, line, clete, ..... laurenti, uincenti II (capitals), apollonaris, geruasi, protasi, christophore, georgii, dionisii cum soc., eustachii cum soc. (capitals), herasme, osuolde.

Confessors: Benedicte II (capitals), martine, hilarii, silvester, gregori, augustine, cuthberhte, remegi, germane, maure, placide, columbane, antoni, arseni, machari, caurentine.

Virgins: Felicitas, perpetua, maria magd., scolastica, agatha, agnes, cecilia, lucia, brigida, eugenia, eulalia, petronella.

Here it ends imperfectly.

Then follow, in a black Christ Church hand of cent. xi, xii, several liturgical gospels with red and blue initials.

In vig. nativ. D. sec. math. Cum esset desponsata . . . . . 141

In die. Sec. Ioh. In principio.

(Easter) Sec. Marc. Maria magd., etc. emerunt aromata.

In assumpt. S. Marie sec. Luc. Intrauit Ihesus . . . . . 142

In passione S. Ælfegi Archiep. sec. Ioh.

Dixit Ihesus...Ego sum pastor bonus.

Sec. Ioh. Dixit Ihesus...Ego sum uitis uera . . . . . 142<sup>b</sup>

ff. 143-146 blank.

The three martyrs Maximian, Justin and Contestor in the second Litany are obscure to me.

The emphasis laid on Vincent and Benedict points to an abbey dedicated to the former saint.

It is plain that the book was in England in cent. xi when the drawing on f. 1<sup>b</sup> was added.

412. AEGIDIUS ROMANUS, ETC.

{ N. 26
 { T. James 182

Vellum,  $8\frac{3}{8} \times 5\frac{1}{2}$ , ff. 4 + 77 + 4, 40 lines to a page. Cent. xiv late, in a pretty hand of Italian aspect. Upper corners carefully mended.

Collation: a<sup>4</sup>, 1<sup>8</sup>-10<sup>8</sup> (wants 6-8), b<sup>4</sup>.

On 1 b in large black letters the name William Porter.

This name is also in Trinity MS. B. 16. 3.

On ii-iv in a hand of cent. xv late:

Casus in quibus iudex ecclesiasticus potest cognoscere regea prohibicione non obstante concessi per regis magnam cartam.

Edwardus dei gratia, etc....Sciatis quod cum dudum temporibus progenitorum nostrorum.

Ending iii b:

litera domini regis iusticiariis directa supra ponitur infra constitutiones prouinciales de foro competenti C. Circumspecte agatis in quo C. continentur omnes casus in quibus, etc.

—non obstante. Melius tamen est quod non faciat nisi regiam consultacionem optineat. Edmundus poplay.

Supplicat:

Supplicat venerabili, etc. Edmundus poplay in iure canonico Baccallarius quatenus studia quindecim annorum que habuit in hac uniuersitate in facultate arcium et in iuribus ciuili et canonico sibi sufficiant ad hunc effectum ut admittatur ad incipiendum in iure canonico ita quod soluat markam(?).

Hec gracia concessa et confrmata est a. d. mill<sup>mo</sup> cccc<sup>o</sup> lxxxix mens. Jun. xii<sup>mo</sup> condicio talis est quod soluat uniuersitati xls.

A Popley occurs as Bachelor of Canon Law in 1324-5, Grace Book B, part II, p. 123.

In Grace Book A, p. 42 under 1463-4, is 'receptum de popy quia non incepit in iure canonico xls.' But both dates seem unsuitable.

tantum aut simul dei et hominum
—Rectene id an perperam ipsi uiderint qui inuenerunt.
Böhmer, p. 462, nos. xiii a, xiii b.
14. [De Baptismo et Eucharistia] . . . . . 102 Si queritur quid melius sit atque prestantius baptismus an sacerdotium
—quales ab eterno non sunt scripti uel electi uel predestinati.
Böhmer, p. 464.
15. [De nuptiis] . . . . . 108
Si christiana nubit iudeo uel ethnico
—peccato idolatrie comparatur.
Not printed.
The lower part of p. 109 is cut off and replaced by new vellum:
a fragment of text (for which see the Addenda) survives, pasted over, on p. 110: the whole of pp. 111, 112 are a newer leaf, and blank.
16. [De depositione sacerdotis] . . . . . 113
The first two lines are a slip cut off from a previous page and pasted on the top of p. 113.
Sacerdotem ab ordine deponi nichil aliud esse puto quam eidem ordinem suum auferri.
Böhmer, p. 469.
17. Diuina benedictio cuius iustus maior esse . . . . . 114
Böhmer, p. 470.
18. Si uerba quibus consecratur corpus . . . . . 114

20. In passione domini duo fuisse gladii . . . . . 120
—in sanctorum commentariis queri debent.
Böhmer, p. 474.
21. Si deus omnia regit et moderatur et omnem rationalem creaturam regit et moderatur . . . . . 121
—Idem enim est adipisci summam bonitatem et summam essentiam et idem est adipisci bonum esse quod esse.
? Not printed.
22. Apologia pro filiis sacerdotum et concubinarum quos nunc quidam iudicant ad sacros ordines non debere admitti . . . . . 128 —sin autem correptionem libenter excipimus.
Another copy at p. 247. MGH., Libelli de Lite III 649.

- 23*a*. [De equalitate ministrorum] . . . . . p. 139
 Diuina institutione nullus inter apostolos maior fuit
 —ut inter uicarios eorum talis etiam regula seruaretur.
 Böhmer, p. 475.
- 23*b*. Agnus dei qui cotidie immolatur in altari aut tollit peccata mundi 142
 —Neque enim pro diabolo et membris eius offertur corpus Christi.
 Böhmer, p. 477.
- 24*a*. Change of script. [De consecratione Pontificum et regum] . 143
 Due in ueteri testamento persone pontificis scilicet et regis olei sancti unctione consecrate.
 Between pp. 158 and 159 should be placed pp. 173–188 (quire 12).
 Nunc inseramus consecrationem sacerdotis et uideamus si adeo excellens est ut consecratio regis. Talis quippe est pontificis consecratio. Domine sancte pater . . . . 163*
 The office follows.
 On p. 169, after the inthronization collect (D. I. C. tu preelegisti apostolos tuos ut doctrina sua nobis preessent etc.) follows what must be the king's oath:
 Hec tria populo Christiano et mihi subdito in Christi promitto nomine.
 In primis ut ecclesia et omnis populus christianus ueram pacem nostro arbitrio in omni tempore seruet, etc.
 The text continues with the coronation office. On p. 171 in the Consecratio regis (omnipotens sempiternus deus creator ac gubernator celi et terre) is the formula:
 super hunc famulum tuum N quem supplici deuotione in regnum anglorum siue saxonum pariter elegimus.
 After p. 172 is the misplaced quire 12. The office continues at
 p. 189 and ends p. 194 with the prayer: Benedic domine fortitudinem principis
 —quia ascensor celi auxiliator suus in sempiternum fiat.
 A series of paragraphs on the attributes of a king follows headed
 De Nomine Regni . . . . . 194
 Isidorus ait. Regnum a regibus dictum est, etc.
 In the following paragraphs the authorities quoted are:
 Prouerbia Grecorum. These passages are printed by S. Hell-mann, Sedulius Scottus, p. 129 (1906, in Traube's Quellen u.
Untersuchungen 1) together with a series of 74 quotations from Prouerbia Grecorum found in the Collectaneum of Sedulius Scottus in the Cues MS., and two other passages from them cited in the Carlsruhe MS. of the Irish Canons, and in a letter of the Anglo-Saxon Cathvulf to Charlemagne.
 They have evidently passed through Celtic hands: their origin is uncertain.
 Other authorities named are:
 Hieronimus. Patricius (the tract de xii abusiuis, quoted twice as his), Liber sapientie, Ambrose, Gregory.
 p. 199. Item paulus pandit: quicumque adulari uoluerit aut pro necessitate aut pro adulatione benigne reuelat. Item paulus.
 Si hominibus placuissem seruus dei non essem.

Sinodus romana, p. 200. Orosius. Augustine.

Ends p. 204. De sermone regis aut ducis protegente inimicum —unde quidam ait. Utinam sermo regis dissoluisset me et liberaret me ut soluit ioseph. Et ut danielem liberauit de lacu leonum et ut mardocheum de angustia sua.

Parts of this are printed in MGH., l. c. III 662, where also are parts of the next tract.

- 24 b. The text continues in a rougher hand . . . . . p. 204
 Sancta ecclesia sponsa Christi est qui est uerus rex et sacerdos.
 pp. 205–208 are markedly large in script. On p. 209 this script becomes small and neat again, but there seems to be no break in the sense. This is a second copy, with some changes, of the tract no. 24 a. It ends just before the point where the former copy inserts the Coronation office. (See above on no. 24 a.)
 This second copy ends p. 235: quoniam et ipse summus pontifex est in quantum rex est. On the first copy p. 163* these words are followed by Nunc inseramus consecrationem sacerdotis.
- 24 c. No title . . . . . 235
 Laicus et christianus hec duo nomina aut equalia sunt in dignitate aut alterum altero est dignius —alterum ignominie id est laicus.
- 24 d. . . . . 237
 D. n. Iesus Christus si petro soli contulit clauces regni celorum —sed humano intuitu et preconio intruduntur.
25. Large script. [An liceat sacerdotibus inire matrimonia] . . . 239
 Scire uelim quis primus instituit ne sacerdotes christiani inire deberent matrimonia. Deus an homo —In quibus uero uerbum nuptiarum seminat ipsi facere nuptiarum fructum appetunt.
 Printed by Bp Hall, Works I 756 (The honor of the married clergy) MGH., Libelli de Lite III 645.
26. Apologia pro filiis sacerdotum et concubinarum . . . . . 247
 A first sketch of no. 22 (p. 128): hand changes at p. 255.
 —sin autem correctionem libenter accipiamus.
27. Sanctorum patrum autoritas—ordinauit ut rothomagensis ecclesia caput esset et mater fiscannensis ecclesie et ipsa membrum ipsius esset et filia . . . . . 264
 —Nunc uero uice uersa in contrarium pro his bonis.
 fiscannensis mala retribuit rothomagensi.
 —non est potestas nisi a deo.
28. [De Romano Pontifice] . . . . . 265
 Romanus pontifex ideo apostolicus cognominatur quod apostolorum uice et officio fungi creditur.
 qui ergo inter has scisma facere conatur id efficit ut etiam sacerdotalis auctoritas subruatur.
 MGH., l. c. III 679.
29. [De obediendo Romano Pontifice: more correctly, against the subjection of York to Canterbury] . . . . . 279 Cum multe sint ecclesie in romana ciuitate aut omnibus equaliter debemus obedire aut quibusdam tantum.

The script of the following pages is larger and rougher.

—si ergo eboracensis archiepiscopus istis uult exhibere obedientiam non debet nisi cogatur de is respondere archiepiscopo cantuariensi que potius iure debet ecclesie londoniensi.

MGH., l.c. III 686. Böhmer, p. 478.

30. A paragraph.

Considerandum est de romana ecclesia unde sit dignior ex eo quod romana est an ex eo quod ecclesia . . . . . p. 284
—in caritate non in exactione. propter deum non propter seculi fastum. Amen.

31. (De Charitate et Obedientia.) In the hand of no. 1 :

Dignitas peculiaris et propria est et a patre collata filio dei et hominis quod est iudex uniuersorum.

Ends p. 302 (on "suficit diei malitia sua"):

catia (=κακία) enim que latinus uertit in malitiam apud grecos duo significat et malitiam et afflictionem. quod cacos grece dicunt et hic pro malitia magis transferri debuit.

Böhmer, p. 481.

Professor Napier notes: "At the end was the Tractate de xii abusiuus: it is now apparently lost." (I doubt if this is correct: T. James notices the occurrence of this tract under his no. 285 which is no. 303. In that volume the tract occurs.)

422. SALOMON AND SATURN.
 MISSALE.

{ S. 16
 { T. James 286

Vellum,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 5\frac{1}{8}$ , ff. 13 + 281 + 1, two volumes, (I) 24, (II) 20 lines to a page. Cent. ?x and xi in very fine hands.

On the last page are inscriptions of cent. xvi:

- a. The rede boke of darley<sup>1</sup> in the peake in darbyshire (ill-written).
 b. This booke was sumtime had in such reverence in darbieshire that it was comonlie beleved that whosoeuer should sweare vntruelie vppon this booke should run madd.
 c. This booke giuen by Richard Flendesley (or Hend-) esquier to M. Cant.

The main portion of the volume seems to have been written at Winchester in the New Minster (where St Grimbold was specially honoured).

Mr Edmund Bishop On the Bosworth Psalter, 1908 (p. 61 note), speaks of the Kalendar as being certainly of Sherborne.

II. 1<sup>12</sup> 2<sup>s</sup> 3<sup>10</sup> (10 ?canc.) 4<sup>s</sup> 5<sup>s</sup> 6<sup>10</sup> 7<sup>s</sup> 8<sup>s</sup> 9<sup>10</sup> (8 canc.) 10<sup>s</sup>–14<sup>s</sup> 15<sup>12</sup> (1, 2 canc.) 16<sup>s</sup> 17<sup>10</sup> (10 canc.?) 18<sup>s</sup>–23<sup>s</sup> (5 canc.) 24<sup>10</sup> (10 ?canc.) 25<sup>s</sup>–27<sup>s</sup> 28<sup>s</sup> | gap<sup>2</sup> | 29<sup>s</sup>–34<sup>s</sup>, 1 flyleaf.

I. The portion containing the principal copy of the poetical and prose dialogues of Salomon and Saturn is written in a small round flat-topped hand which Kemble conjectured to be that of a woman.

The publications by Kemble, A.-S. Dialogues of Salomon and Saturn, Ælfric Society, 1847 and A. R. von Vincenti, Die Altengl. Dialoge von Salomon u. Saturn (Part I, Munich 1904), will be referred to in what follows: Vincenti's work contains an excellent bibliography.

The first page of the MS. is very illegible, especially at the top. It was once pasted down to the cover. Enough words are decipherable (Vincenti, p. 44) to show that the text was essentially identical with that preserved in the only other copy (a fragment in no. 41 in this collection).

Galls have been used to revive this and subsequent pages. At the top is a modern note: "S. 16 in red leather," and an old scribble in large letters made with a dry point. About the first five leaves are penetrated by some small holes caused by rust.

f. 7 has been cut out. It contained a portion of the prose description of the contest between the devil and the Paternoster (Kemble, p. 152).

The second (poetical) dialogue begins on p. 13. The first words are in large capitals (HƿÆT · IC · FLITAN · GEFRÆGN ·).

p. 14 has had its original text erased, and a Latin form of excommunication has been written on it in a rather rough hand of cent xii:

Ex auctoritate dei patris omnipotentis et filii et sp. s.

—sequestramus illos homines qui hoc factum uel maleficium fecerunt, etc.

—et ad emendacionem congruam perueniant fiat (thrice). Amen.

The page has also been treated with galls. A word or two in line 8 may be read. The Latin text occupies  $\frac{2}{3}$  of the page and when it ends there are remains of another hand not the original. It is just possible that a little of the original text might be recovered at the bottom of the page.

The remaining pages (15–26) are legible, though discoloured by reagents in many places. The text ends p. 26: him to neiddes (Kemble, p. 176).

The last edition, now in progress, is by von Vincenti. A collation is in Anglia IV 527 (Zupitza); a text in Germania XXII 50 by Schipper.

II. In a very good hand of cent. xi, round and black. The kalendar portion in a smaller hand. The book has been much used, and in the latter portion the red ink of the rubrics has disappeared to a very large extent.

Contents:

Table of Moons with short prognostics in Latin and Anglo-Saxon . p. 27

The numerals have disappeared to a large extent. The form is:

Luna...Non est bona · nis hit her god tima.

Melior est · her hit is betere, etc.

Diagram of days in the months . . . . . 28

Table of concurrentes, etc.

Notes in Latin and A.-S. Gif þu pille pitan hu fela epacta, etc.

Kalendar in black, red and green . . . . . 29

There are a good many notes in Anglo-Saxon. Uniformly each month has one of this kind:

(March). Seo niht xii tida 7 se dæg xii,

To underne 7 to none ·xiii· fotgemetu · 7 to middæges vii.

(May). Ðes monoð hæfð xxxi daga · 7 se mona · xxx · nihta eald.

There are also occasional notes, some of which will be given.

The great feasts, as Mr Bishop remarks, are distinguished by the letter f, not by the more usual cross.

The Preface . . . . . 52

The upper half of the page occupied by a drawing mostly in green outline. Christ beardless in mandorla with book blessing, supported by two angels with flowering sceptres. The text of the preface is written on and about the mandorla, in green and red capitals. Below, it is continued in minuscule, with neumes.

The Canon . . . . . 53

The initial is a cross, green, roughly in the form of a tree-trunk. On it Christ bearded(?) nailed with four nails, the side wounded. He wears a rich loin-cloth. On L. the Virgin holds her robe to her face, bends to R. and points or blesses. Above on R. the divine hand; on L. a dove with wreath in beak flies down.

The Saints in the Canon after 'Cosme et damiani' are: Hilarii, Martini, Benedicti, Gregorii, Agustini, Amandi, Caurentini (cf. 411).

After the Agnus on p. 62 is the rubric:

The volume has been examined by Mr Strickland Gibson, who has kindly supplied me with references.

1. Epistola academiæ ad Thomam Kempe episcopum Londinensem, laudes illi meritas attribuens, quod parietes scholarum theologiæ lapide quadrato absolvisset, easque opere celato ostiis et turriculis ornasset, p. 1.

2. De temporibus quibus episcopi Londinenses a Richardo Clifford ad Thomam Kempe sunt consecrati, p. 4.

3. Of the building of the library at Oxford, ibid.

These two last articles are more modern than the rest of the book, being added by Joceline and archbishop Parker.

4. Epistolæ duæ brevissimæ Edwardi Poole, qui tunc in academia Oxoniensi studebat, ad patrem suum, in quibus commendat ei scribam academiæ cui has literas perferendas dederat et enarrat quanta est ejus in academia expectatio, p. 5.

5. Epistola episcopi Sarisburiensis ad academiæm Oxon. in qua gratulatur eis quod petitionem suam ejus consilio jam essent consecuturi, cum ipse cito esset venturus et nobilem infantulum in gremium matris suæ oblaturus, data ex Windesora 7 Apr. p. 7.

6. Epistola academiæ ad eundem episcopum, in qua maximas ei agunt gratias quod ejus consilio nobilis hic infantulus, regius scilicet nepos, universitati ascisceretur, ibid.

7. Epistola academiæ ad regem Edwardum IV. in qua declarant innocentiam doctoris Smyth suspecti de heresi, p. 8 et 83.

8. Epistola academiæ ad eundem, ne avocaret latomos quos ad scholas theologiæ perficiendas perquisiverunt, aut saltem si episcopus Winton. aliquos, quos usui suo concesserat rex, impertiri voluerit usui academiæ, illis utendi potestatem faceret, p. 10 et 85.

9. Epistola academiæ ad Iohannem abbatem de Abbendon, ut Romam profecturus, privilegia academiæ confirmari curaret, p. 11.

10. Epistola academiæ ad Leonellum Widevil Exon. ecclesiæ decanum in qua continetur gratia ei concessa in congregatione solemnî, nempe primum ut ad extraordinariam decretalium lecturam admitti, tum in decretis licentiari possit, p. 12.

11. Epistola academiæ ad episcopum Winton. ut velit eis copiam facere utendi illis edificialibus instrumentis quæ ad clarissimi ejus collegii fabricam comparata sunt, p. 13.

12. Epistola academiæ ad episcopum London. quod eligerent quatuor viros qui pecuniam ab eo reciperent pro edificatione scholarum theologiæ et quam primum eis redderent 1478, p. 14.

13. Epistola academiæ ad Thomam Kempe episcopum London. ut scholas theologiæ jamdudum inchoatas sed multis annis mancas et prope neglectas perficere velit 1476, p. 16.

14. Epistola academiæ ad episcopum Winton. ut confœderet pacem inter Thomam Davers et doctorem Haydok, p. 16.

13. Speculum spiritualis amicitiae.

This text is printed in Batiffol, Studia Patristica I 1889, pp. 89-115: collated with the text of no. 288.

This is the oldest copy of the text I have seen. If it is really of cent. xii, as seems likely, it is impossible that Robert Grosseteste should (as I have always been inclined to believe) have had a hand in the translation of the text from Greek into Latin.

At top of p. 9 in red chalk: TW (Twyne or T. Wotton).

Contents:

I. 1. Vita S. Remigii . . . . . p. 9

Printed by Dimock in Vol. VII of the Rolls ed. of Giraldus.

He says of the MS. "of all the early manuscripts of Giraldus's different works which I have had to study, this C.C.C. 425 seems to me to have the best claim to be looked upon, if not as his own autograph copy, yet as written and revised and added to under his own eye. At any rate it was, in all likelihood, written before Giraldus' death: it certainly gives us a most correct text: and the text, probably, of Giraldus's last revision." (Intro., p. ix.)

It is the only manuscript of these Lives extant.

Ex conc. Cartaginensi habita ab episcopis xvi kal. Sept. . . .	17
Innocentius in ep. ad Decentium.
Idem ad Ruffum et Eusebium episcopos, etc.
On p. 25 begins a series of quotations from the False Decretals.
Inc. decreta Clementis pape. Si qui ex fratribus negotia habent inter se.
The subjects of the extracts are not marked off by rubrics. The last appear to deal with the treatment of errors in doctrine: after two from Popes Zosimus and Caelestinus follows:
Ieronimus de membris domini nostri . . . . .	161
Omnipotens deus pater et filius et spiritus sanctus unus est atque trinus unus uidelicet in natura trinus in personis.
Ending: sine sono uocis uel quolibet strepitu. occulte in mentibus sanctorum uoluntatem suam atque rectum inspirare siue futura.

Collation: a<sup>2</sup>, 1<sup>10</sup>-8<sup>10</sup> 9<sup>8</sup>.

On i a, pasted over, is some writing: and also on 88 b which is likewise pasted over.

Contents:

The text of ff. 1-8 has been erased more or less completely.

The volume contains a Latin version of the Quaestiones Romanae and Quaestiones Graecae of Plutarch.

On the early Latin versions see Fabricius, Bibl. Gr. v 203.

The first complete section is on f. 9 a.

Quid est quod ancillis eadem Matute ingredi fas non est (no. 16).

The Roman questions end 59<sup>b</sup> —et cognatorum quod bruto accidit.

The Greek continue with no separate title.

Qui sunt quos epidauri compodes artinos appellant . . . f. 59<sup>b</sup>

A good many blanks are left in the text as if the archetype were defective. The text of ff. 81, 82 is erased beginning in the question (no. 46)

Quid est quod purgatores uocant thralian (!).

The first after the blank is (no. 52)

Quid cause quamobrem elei equas finibus eductas iniri faciunt.

Ends 86<sup>b</sup> postea a genere hamasocii liste (ἀμαξοκλισταί) nominati sunt. Finis.

On the two last flyleaves are Parkerian notes.

The last edition of the text is that in the Rolls Series by Martin Rule, M.A. In his introduction he discusses the character of our MS. minutely. Further he has produced a yet more minute study of the book and its evolution in Camb. Ant. Soc. Proceedings, vol. VI (1886), 194-304, with facsimiles of pp. 16, 17 of this MS.

The opening words dominus, etc. had been omitted and the ornamented initial is given to Septiformis: the omitted words were then added on L. by the original scribe.

At top, erased, is Ecclesie Christi Cantuariensis.

Ecclesie xpi Can

There is a division after ch. xx. The title of this is given in the capitula as de consecratione domus dei et sacrificiorum immolatione et eorum significatione. In the text it is shorter,—de edificacione templi.

It ends f. 72 b: In timore uitia in amore orationes incendamus.

Most of the page is blank and there are some later pen-trials on it.

The second part of the book has a separate rubric in the Capitula; de miraculis, and consists of detached stories, some of which relate to St Anselm. The first is:

De S. Iacobo apostolo . . . . .	73
Sancte recordationis anselmus summus anglorum ecclesie pontifex dum a patria exularet.

The last chapter (Qualiter Willelmus turbas demonum uiderit et ab eis per bonos angelos liberatus sit) ends f. 115 b: et utinam nos digni efficiamur eorum tuitione inuictissima et indeficienti ac salutifera amicitia.

The tract is by Alexander a monk of Christ Church. See Mr Rule's preface to his edition of Eadmer's Historia (Rolls), p. lxxv.

In an appendix to his Preface, pp. cxx—cxxvi, he has printed the greater part of chapters 21, 39—42, 44, 45.

It will be seen that the Greek contains a good many mistakes.

In Ps. xiii the verses Sepulcrum patens—ante oculos eorum have no equivalent in the Greek.

Titles are in Latin only.

On and after 81 b, 82 a the two inner columns are every now and then given to the Greek and the two outer to the Latin. This is not continuous. Sometimes the Latin and Greek change places irregularly: after about f. 100 the old arrangement is resumed.

At Ps. cx (cxi) is the note: alfabetum hebreum. quere super hunc locum in triplici psalterio.

The lower part of 125 b is blank, without defect in the text. On 126 b a blank is left and the latter half of Ps. cxviii (cxix) Jod (manus tua fecerunt me) is wanting.

After 145 is an inserted leaf in the same hand but larger script, containing a supply of an omission on 146 a.

Ps. cli Pusillus eram follows on 146 b.

At the end, in the Greek column:

exelipon i psalmi dauid tu basileos. Expl. psalmi dauid regis.

Incipiunt cantica (viz.) . . . . . f. 146 b

Asma ysaye profite.

I have elsewhere (Sources, p. 10) shewn that this is the Psalter of Gregory of Huntingdon, Prior of Ramsey (fl. cir. 1250).

It is named among his books in the fragmentary catalogue of Ramsey library, printed in Chron. Abb. Ramesiensis (Rolls, p. 365). He possessed two Greek Psalters besides a good many Hebrew books.

On i b-iv are notes in a good hand of cent. xiii-xiv.

On ii b-iii a Extracts from the Testaments of Dan, Joseph, Aser, Zabulon.

On iii b:

Dixit autem Ieremias hec dicit dominus. Ego iuravi in nomine meo magno quod omnes uiri iuda qui sunt in terra egipti gladio et fame peribunt. donec penitus consumantur. Et insurrexit populus aduersus Jeremiam et lapidauerunt eum. Hic est ieremias qui regibus egipti signum dedit quod eorum idola euerti oporteret cum uirgo pareret. Legitur enim quod saluator noster in egiptum descendit cum herodes querebat animam illius. Quo intrante omnia idola egipti collisa corruerunt in terram. Dixit itaque presentibus. Dominus ex syon recessit ad celos inde rursus in uirtute uenturus. Erit signum presencie eius quando uniuerse gentes adorauerint lignum.

Extracts from Testaments of Simeon, Levi, Juda.

The incipits of the Psalms are added throughout in Latin in the margin

After Ps. xvii (xviii) Diligam te is a psalm or canticle marked: Non

On f. 24 at the end of this is a scribble in a hand of cent. xv-xvi

It appears from Parker's correspondence (pp. 265, 6, 71) that in 1565 he had sent a 'quayr of straynge carecters' (so the MS. 114, p. 493) to Bp Davies of St David's to decipher. In a letter of Davies' collaborator William Salesbury (114, p. 491) to Parker there is a postscript:

προθυστερον. Yit to trouble your grace wth thys piece more τῆς ὑστερολογίας. After that my Lord by cwnferryng thies vnacquaynted χαρᾶκτωρ namely in the wordes before tyme extracted cold fynd no consonant agreement, as in hufu for Sion (meruaylyng to se the same lettre twyse therin) and cold not make of it neither Walsh Englysh Dutche Hebrewe Greke nor Latin his L. gave ouer to bestowe any more tyme theron." (And gave the matter to Salesbury<sup>1</sup> to settle: which he could not do.)

This letter shows (a) that the book in question was Armenian, (b) that it had in it words "extracted before tyme," by the help of which Davies tried to read it. One of such words was Sion. Now the Psalter before us has, as noted above, many proper names transliterated in the margin, and among these Sion occurs several times. I have no doubt therefore that our book is that which was sent to Bp Davies.

The identity of the person who succeeded in deciphering the book is worth investigating. It has been thought, on the strength of a fragmentary letter in Trin. B. 14. 52, that W. Lambarde the antiquary had worked at Armenian. The evidence is as follows: on the first leaf of that manuscript are six lines of Latin verse signed W. L. (or W. P.) (forte Wilhelmus Lambarde) says Wanley.

<sup>1</sup> Salesbury (see D. N. B.) had some reputation as a philologist and was said to know nine languages.

Below this, in a bad xvith cent. hand, is the following (printed with several mistakes in my Catalogue I 460: I have tried to correct the blunders here. See also Wanley, p. 169; Strype, Parker I 533):

Manye will Bragge of their knowledge and haveinge of Antiquities but the writer of the verses above is the onlye man that ever I cold be acquainted with for the readinge of this boke and other Antiquities, his Calender of the Byble maye apere to your grace but I most humblye beseche you that y<sup>e</sup> paynfull workes by him gathered after your grace hath perused might not be wraped vpp in obliuion how he hath traveled in the Armenian tongue may apere.....<sup>1</sup>.

The identification of the person here alluded to with W. Lambarde depends on the correctness of the interpretation of the initials W. L. (or P.).

The "Calender of the Byble" mentioned in the letter ought to serve as a clue. There was a Calender of Scripture printed in 1575 (Sayle, Early English Books, no. 969) which is attributed to William Patten by Ames. Tanner includes a Calendar of the Bible among Lambarde's works, but merely on the strength of the documents quoted above, which he had read in Strype. Another piece of evidence seems to point strongly towards Patten as the person here alluded to. In Parker's Register, John Parker adds to the entry of this Armenian Psalter the following words: 8<sup>o</sup> perg. A testimonie of Antiquities etc. cum alphabet Armenico per Patten. Among the printed books given by Parker to the College there is a tract corresponding to this description, of which I will give particulars here.

NOTE ON WILLIAM PATTEN'S ARMENIAN VOCABULARY.

The printed book no. 281 (D. 27 is the old mark) is a volume in a vellum binding, measuring  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{3}{8}$  inches, and containing:

1. A testimonie of Antiquitie, etc. (Ælfric's Anglo-Saxon Homily on the Sacrament, etc.), printed by John Day, n. d.
2. Gildas (Joceline's text), printed by John Day, 1568.
3. Tracts printed by H. Bynneman, 1569:
  - a. Epistolae duae Volusiani
(from a MS. found "inter laceras chartas" of St Augustine's Abbey at Canterbury), see MS. 101. 29, 30.
  - b. Offendiculum sacerdotum, ascribed to Anselm: from 34. 39.
  - c. Synodus Winton., 1076.
Ex vetusto libro Biblioth. Wigor. Eccl. (i.e. 190. 16).
  - d. Ep. Girardi Ebor. ad Anselmum.
Ep. Anselmi respondens Girardo.
Ex libro ms<sup>60</sup> quondam Monasterii S. Edmundi reg. et m. (i.e. MS. 135).
  - e. Ex Ep. Athanasii ad Dracontium.
c, d, e are transcribed together in MS. 117. 2-5.

<sup>1</sup> Strype Parker I 533 (II 508) quotes the verses and the letter, and adds: "The rest is wanting. The person that writ this I strongly conjecture to be Tho. Wotton Esq., and the worshipful, godly, and truly learned in antiquities and a correspondent and friend of the Archbishop's."

4. A manuscript tract: the edges severely cut by the binder.
ff. i, ii blank: on iii b:

H)unc Alphabetum elaboratum et scriptum cum Le)xico Armenico manu et diligentia M<sup>r</sup>i P)aten Londinensis quondam studiosi in aula G)unwelli Cantabrigiae<sup>1</sup>.

- f. i. Alphabetum in Lectionem illius P(salte rii (ut conijcere est) Armaen(ici ac Dictionariolum in aliquot (voces eiusdem. Aprili 1570.

The Alphabet occupies the rest of the page. On the next page and on the 37 leaves following is the Vocabulary, wholly in Roman characters and very well written, thus:

A
Acachin } Acanchi }ounin	Aures habent.
Acean chag.	Aures tuae.
Achian	Conspectus, facies.
Achia dou tr̄	Ecce tu domine.
etc.
Ending: Zthis	Equus
Ztr̄	DOMINVS. Cui Laudes.

Then follows a short passage in Armenian character, with transliteration and interlinear Latin version opposite:

Misericors miserator domine ne preualeant maligni, etc.

Six blank leaves follow.

Then a large sheet, folded, loose, containing:

Laudatio Esaie Prophetæ. Maiori ex parte desumpta ex Cap. xxvi.

The Armenian text in Roman characters, with interlinear Latin version.

It is clear that Patten compiled the whole from the Psalter and had no other resource.

On the strength of this evidence I claim the position of the first English student of Armenian for William Patten. Plainly the initials in the Trinity manuscript should be read as W. P., not W. L.

This latter note refers to the copy of the Hypomnesticon of Josippus in the University Library, in the volume containing the Testaments of the Twelve Patriarchs, etc. (Ff. 1. 24) which once belonged to Grosseteste. In that is a note referring to the 'paruum psalterium grecum.'

There is no doubt that this Psalter also belonged to Grosseteste: it is full of notes in his hand.

I regard it as practically certain that it came from the Franciscan Convent at Oxford, to which Grosseteste bequeathed his books. For a connexion with Oxford is betrayed by the last page (288 b) on which is written:

(M) ·Ι· φαρλεί. Μ. Ιωαννης φαρλει.

John Farley was an official scribe of the University of Oxford. See on no. 423 in which his name occurs.

ψαλτήριον τερπνόν εις θεόν μέλος.

Marginal notes in Latin and Greek occur throughout the book.

They are in several hands. On the first six leaves (and 7 a) is a copious series in a neat upright hand of cent. xiii-xiv which gives a Latin rendering of each alternate verse or half verse. I do not think that these are by Grosseteste.

doxa kath .. eis telos yper ton kryphion tu autu (erased) iuu [autou psalmos to dauid in different ink and probably different hand] gloria in finem super oculis filii.

This is in a peculiar straggling hand. Similar transliterations of the titles are nearly always given. The other neater hand continues to add marginal and interlinear glosses. Grosseteste (or a contemporary) occasionally writes in Greek characters, and these resemble the script of the Greek Lexicon now at the College of Arms, which I assign to his school (see Mélanges Chatelain 1910 for an account of it).

On f. 41 a note by Gr. on ἐγκαινισμός.

The psalm (53, 54) Deus in nomine tuo has a complete interlinear Latin gloss in a very small fine hand which also appears on p. 1. On f. 81 and after, the transliterations of the titles are in a small black firm hand unlike Grosseteste's.

112*b* is largely illegible.

After ps. 76 (77) Voce mea a page is left blank 126*b*. On it is an inscription in black-green ink, the first lines carefully erased. It is not in the hand of the text, but it gives a date in June of the year of the world 6663, corresponding to 1154 or 1155 AD.

On 206*b* is some transliteration in an Italian hand, fine and small.

The same hand, larger, appears on 218*a* and perhaps on 257*b*.

The upper part of 208*a* is re-written in a good round hand.

Psalter ends 255*a* with Ps. 151 (Pusillus eram).

Ex dono dom. J. Moor.

Vellum,  $4\frac{3}{8} \times 3$ , ff. 193, 29 lines to a page. Cent. xiv late, or xv early, very well written, in pale ink, with pretty initials. These are in gold with internal ground of red and external of blue, both patterned with white.

In green leather binding with two clasps. Given by J. Moore<sup>1</sup>, who has written a note at the beginning, and an Index.

Collation: Quire 1 gone, 2<sup>s</sup>–12<sup>s</sup> (wants 3–6) 13<sup>s</sup>–18<sup>s</sup> (wants 4–5) 19<sup>s</sup> 20<sup>s</sup> 21<sup>s</sup> (wants 1 : 8 follows quire 22) 22<sup>s</sup>–26<sup>s</sup>.

The quires are much misbound. The true order is indicated by notes in the book.

 From quire 15, p. 232, pass to quire 22, p. 321–336.
 From p. 336 (quire 22) pass to p. 293–308 (quire 20).
 From p. 308 (quire 20) pass to p. 277–292 (quire 19).
 Quire 19 has the leaves misplaced: from p. 280 pass to 287: from 288 pass to 283–6: then 281–2: then 289.
 From p. 292 (quire 19) pass to p. 265–76 (quire 18).
 The two middle leaves of quire 18 (end of Modus leuandi fines and beginning of Capitula itineris) are gone.
 From p. 276 (quire 18) pass to p. 233–249 (quire 16).

From p. 249 (quire 16) pass to p. 309-320, 337-8 (quire 21).

On p. 309 the statute Al honour de dieu anno primo begins imperfectly in cap. v. On p. 314 begins Come Hugh le Despenser and continues to 320. From 320 pass to 337, 8 (the 8th leaf of quire 21). Quire 23 (pp. 339-54) follows on p. 338.

From p. 354 (quire 23) pass to p. 249-64 (quire 17).

From p. 264 (quire 17) pass to p. 355 (quire 24).

Quires 24-26 are continuous.

The last page is worn and illegible. There are some rough scribbles on it of cent. xv-xvi.

The true order of quires and items is thus:

		Pages
Quires (1)	2-15	17-232,	Art. 1-28.
	22	321-336,	70-78.

The following manuscripts (nos. 483-538) are not included in Nasmith's Catalogue. They fall into the following divisions: nos. 483-492 are acquisitions of various dates; nos. 493-498 are either bound up with, or kept among, printed books, all but one of which were bequeathed by Archbishop Parker: nos. 499-538 (on which see the Introduction) are manuscripts which, with one probable exception (no. 511), were given to the College early in the seventeenth century, and formerly belonged to a monastic library at Elbing near Dantzig. The damaged condition of this last group has caused my descriptions to be somewhat shorter than usual.

484. BIBLIA.

Vellum,  $6\frac{4}{8} \times 4\frac{9}{16}$ , ff. 4 + 670, double columns of 39 lines. Cent. xiii, in excellent small hand.

Purchased in August, 1890, by the Rev. S. S. Lewis of Mrs Augusta Boyes. It was formerly in the library of a Mr Foster, of Springhead, in Yorkshire. Letters relating to the purchase are in the book.

Collation: 4 vellum flyleaves, 1<sup>20</sup>-31<sup>20</sup> 32<sup>10</sup> | 33<sup>20</sup> 34<sup>20</sup>.

Contents:

Proll. a, Frater Ambrosius.

b, Desiderii mei.

Genesis—2 Par., no prayer of Manasses. Proll. to Jos., 1 Reg., 1 Par.

C. C. C. II. iii.

Esdr. (Pr.), Neh., Tob. (Pr.), Judith (Pr.), Hester (Pr.).
 Job. (Proll. Cogor and Si aut).
 Parab. (Pr.), Eccl. (Pr.), Cant., Sap. (Pr.), Ecclus.
 Isa. (Pr.), Jer. (Pr.), Lam., Bar. (Pr.), Ez. (Pr.), Dan. (Pr.).
 XII Prophets (Proll.), 1, 2 Macc. (Pr.).
 Evv. (Proll. to Matt.: Nouum opus: Plures fuisse: Mattheus ex iudea: and the usual ones).
 Paul. Epp. (Pr. Primum queritur: Romani sunt qui: Romani sunt partis: and the usual ones).
 Cath. Epp. (Pr.).
 Acts (Pr.), Apoc. (Pr.).
 Psalter Gallican.
 Interpretationes nominum (Aaz—Zuzim): triple columns.

The books have fine decorative initials for the most part: distinguished by beautiful green leaves in the ornament. The Epistles have initials alternately in colour and in red pen-work.

Figured initials are as follows:

Prologue. Man writing.
 Genesis. Days of Creation, and Crucifixion.
 Proverbs. Solomon instructing Rehoboam.
 Isaiah. Isaiah holding a frame-saw.
 Romans. Paul with sword.
 1 Peter. Two apostles.
 Psalter. David playing the harp.

All these are of very good execution, but the colour has suffered.

485. BIBLIA.

Vellum, 10 $\frac{3}{10}$  × 6 $\frac{1}{8}$ , ff. 3 + 379, double columns of 54 lines. Cent. xiii, in a very good small hand.

Brown leather binding with later stamp in gold of crest: a stag's head and neck erased, surrounded by garter and surmounted by baron's coronet.

Press-mark C. 3. 21.

The flyleaves supply some interesting records.

In the cover is written (xiii):

Hunc librum fecit scribi Robertus de Aldeswyth (Aldsworth is near Gloucester).

Sum de communi. nolo fieri specialis

Tradar sic uni quod cunctis sim generalis.

qui me furatus fuerit aut alienauerit. sit ille maledictus.

Plectatur pena tali quod sit anathema.

Then in a xvith cent. hand, with a thick line drawn through it:

Sum Richardi Mirre emptus de Willelmo Davis Clerico.

On the next leaf, in a good set hand of cent. xiii :

Hii sunt libri Roberti de Aldesword', videlicet Quinque biblie. quarum una est apud Hereford.

Item duo spalteria glosata.

Item Decreta et Decretalia.

Item Scolastica historia.

Item Ecclesiasticus et liber sapientie glosati.

Item moralia super Iob. Item ferrum situ (i.e. Alex. Neckam's Corrogationes).

Item tractatus super xii prophetas.

Item liber de clastro anime. Item expositio super exodum.

Item destinsiones super spalterium.

Item proueria et edificatoria alia W. Cancelar' Lincol. edita. Item Boecius de trinitate.

Item sermones Roberti pullani.

Item tract. de fide spe et caritate.

Item tract. super eccl<sup>iam</sup>. It. spalterium.

Item belet et Innocent.' super missam et multiplices super canonem misse tractatus.

Item tract. super epp. et euangelia dominicalia.

Item tract. bonauentur' super sentencias.

Item exp. super epp. et euuang. domin. et sermones de precipuis festiuitatibus anni.

At the bottom of the page, in another hand :

Hunc librum concessit mihi et deliberauit ven. in X<sup>o</sup> pater et dominus Reg. Abbas monasterii S. petri Glouc. quousque Johannes Orchard monachus dicti monasterii mihi soluerit xxvj<sup>s</sup> viij<sup>d</sup> nomine Johannis Twenyng monachi, etc. Et predicto ven. patri Reg. tradidi librum scilicet Bibliam quam implegiauit michi dictus J. Twenyng.

The Abbot in question is Reginald de Haunne, who presided from 1263 to 1284.

There is little room for doubt that the book is from Gloucester.

On the verso, in a hand of cent. xvi :

What dayes of the moone are good or bad for certayne thinges heere specified.

A list follows.

On the next leaf, in a large fine set hand (xiii-xiv), a list of the books of the Bible.

Genesis i<sup>ua</sup>.

There is nothing erratic in the list. The verso is blank.

Contents :

Prologues. Frater Ambrosius. Desiderii mei.

Genesis—Deut., Jos. (pr.), Iud., Ruth.

Reg. (pr.), Paral. (pr.). No prayer of Manasses.

Ezr. (pr.), Neh., Esth. (pr.), Tob. (pr.), Iud. (pr.), Iob (pr.).

Followed by: Job exemplar patientie, etc.

Psalter (Gall.). 191 b blank.

Prov. (pr.)—Eccl., Cant. (in dialogue with rubrics), Sap. (pr.), Ecclus. Oratio Salomonis.

Isa.—Ezech. (proll.). At the end of Ezech. is a paragraph :

Ubicunque medicina uel sanitas necessaria est Raphael uadit.

Interpretations of several names are given, ending with :

Zacharias lingua syra adiutor. mundum muliebrem cultam dicit in auro.

Dan. (pr.), Twelve Prophets (proll.), Macc. (pr.).

Evv. (pr. Matheus ex iuda, etc. Luke has pr. at end).

Paul. Epp. (proll. : Romani sunt partes ytalie).

Acts (pr.), Cath. Epp. (pr.).

Apoc. (pr. of Gilbert) : Omnes qui pie uolunt uiuere.

At the end of Apoc. is written (xvii) :

A prophesie found vnder y<sup>e</sup> ground foundation of S. Denis in fraunce, written in hebrue.

1620 Generall warres in Italie.

1622 There shall be no Pastor.

1630 All fouds shall drie up and there shalbe but one Pastor.

At the bottom of the page in another hand (xvi or xvii) :

Biblia hec sacra per S. Hieronumum translata et manuscripta hec sunt Gulielmi Roberts.

Ex dono Hieremieae Martyn medicinae doctoris.

On the lining of the last cover are earlier inscriptions :

(a) an erasure of some lines.

(b) Quisquis eris qui transieris pro me precor ora
Sum quod eris fueram quod et es sta perlege plora.

(c) In the hand of the Gloucester inscription at the beginning :

Omnis claustralis perfesse (professe?) sub ordinis alis

Respice deuote passus sum qualia pro te

In claustro mecum residens sis sum quia tecum

Per claustri sedem celi lucraberis edem. Wylls(?) erased.

The decoration of the book is odd and seems to me provincial.

No gold seems to occur: there is an unusual yellow, and a blue-green (e.g. Judges and Philippians). White dots and rings are copiously used (e.g. Joshua).

The notable initials are :

Prologue. The usual writing figure.

Genesis. Six pictures of the days of creation.

Exodus. A group of four figures.

Levit. Two figures: the one on R. looks out of a window or door.

Note the colouring of 1 Reg.

2 Reg. Outline sketch of a king in the margin.

2 Par. has odd gay colouring.

Ps. 1. David playing the harp.

The Nocturnes and the triple division are marked by decorative initials.

Salvum me fac. A man in the water.

Exultate. Man on horseback looking back to L. and holding up a rod.

Cantate and Domini exaudi each have a black monk praying.

Dixit dominus. Christ throned, blessing.

From Prov. to Ecclus. the initials are in red and blue with delicate penwork, very bright in colour.

With Isaiah the polychrome initials begin again. No more figured initials occur. The Pauline Epistles show some very strange combinations of colour.

486. ECCLESIASTICUS, ETC., GRAECE.

Vellum,  $5\frac{2}{5} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$ , ff. 187 + 2, 19 lines (also 16 and 18) to a page. Cent. xii, in a fine small hand, hanging from ruled lines.

Old binding: stamped leather (red) over wooden boards.

Collation:  $\alpha^8 \beta^8 \beta\beta^8 \gamma^8 - \kappa^8 \kappa\alpha^6 \kappa\beta^8 \kappa\gamma^6$  (1 canc.), 2 flyleaves of paper.

Presented in 1877 by the Rev. J. Priestley Foster, vicar of Dartmouth.

With the volume is a letter from Dr Swainson on the contents, and a paper of notes by Dr Lightfoot.

Contents:

1. Ecclesiasticus . . . . . f. 1
The book begins imperfectly in Ecclus. ix 1.
καὶ τοῦ κόλπου σου.
The text ends f. 94 a:
τὸν μισθὸν ἡμῶν ἐν καιρῷ αὐτοῦ.
After this is a later inscription, erased.
2. A short tract on the Iambic metre with preface in iambics. 94 b τὸ τῶν ἰάμβων μέτρον ἐστὶν ἐξάπους ὁ ποῦς δὲ δυσύλλαβος ὦν στεφηφόρε ποῦς δ' εἰς ἴαμβος προσφυῶς κεκλημένος

ll. 15, 16. ταυτ' οὖν ἀκούσας καὶ μαθὼν πάντων ἀναξ
χάριν δίδου μοι σοὺς σοφωτάτους λόγους

Ἡ πρώτη χῶρα σύγκειται ἐκ βραχέως καὶ μακροῦ ὄιον λέων —ἰδοὺ ἐνταῦθα τὰ βραχέα δηλονότι τὸ εἶ καὶ ὁ αἰεὶ μακρά εἰσι θέσει οὐδέποτε δὲ βραχέα.

On 96 b are iambs again : the ends of the lines are faint.

ορθὰς φύλαττε τοῦ νόος...φρένας

 Cotelier, Mon. Eccl. II 112. Many MSS. seem to exist, at Paris and elsewhere.
 Ends imperfectly f. 187 b, on which page the writing is very faint.

Within the first cover is a paper leaf pasted, with some very late Greek scribbling on it.

In the last cover is a paper label: "Greek MS. (on vellum) from Mount Athos, date about 1200 A.D."

487. RAND'S COLLECTIONS.

Paper: a quarto volume of about 500 leaves, of different sizes. Cent. xviii.

The Collections of the Rev. Brock Rand, M.A. (d. 1753), chaplain to Bp Greene of Ely and Rector of Leverington and Newton, formerly of Corpus Christi College: concerning the Diocese of Ely.

In the following divisions:

1. Bishops of Ely to Thomas Greene (1723).
2. Parishes of Cambridgeshire in alphabetical order.
3. Parishes in Ely diocese outside Cambridgeshire in alphabetical order.

A notice of Mr Rand and his book, from Watson's Hist. of Wisbech, and a copy of his epitaph at Leverington, are in the volume.

In Lamb's time this volume was missing: see a letter of Cole and notes upon it in Lamb's edition of Masters's History, p. 388.

488. JOSCELYN'S HISTORIOLA.

Paper,  $11\frac{3}{10} \times 8\frac{3}{10}$ , pp. 99 numbered in red chalk, 23 lines to a full page. Cent. xvi (1569).

At each end is a vellum leaf from an inventory roll of cent. xv-xvi, in English, containing these headings :

Hangings, Carpettes, Pillowes, Plegges (mostly plate), Counterpoyntes and other Stuff, In the Entre by the Chapell, In the Chapell.

The last includes "a Missale Imprinted," "a Tablet of Alabaster w<sup>t</sup> a Crucifix."

On the title-page is printed the woodcut of the Colledge arms with the fields coloured, and the motto Signat auis Christum, etc., printed below. A frame has been drawn round it in pencil.

The title is written above :

Historia de fundatione et statu Collegii corporis Christi et beatae Mariae virginis Cantabrigiae: tam de primis fundatoribus eiusdem quam de aliis benefactoribus et ceteris euentibus ad hunc usque annum domini 1569.

The text begins on p. 3 and has by way of initial a wood-cut engraving, hand-coloured, of Parker's arms and motto.

It ends on p. 91.

The whole text was edited for the Cambridge Antiquarian Society in 1880 by J. W. Clark, M.A. (v. p. 52 for a notice of the MSS.).

489. STATUTA COLLEGII, ETC.

Paper,  $10\frac{3}{4} \times 7$ , ff. cir. 200 (many blank). In various hands of cent. xvi. Prefixed are two Decisions of Visitors dated 1829.

On the flyleaf, list of contents.

On the verso is pasted an old copy of an Indenture between the Prior and Convent of Hatfield Broadoak and the Colledge referring to a tenement in Cambridge; of 19 Richard II.

Contents :

1. List of the Masters of the Colledge. The first hand goes down to John Jegon. Various hands continue to John Barnardiston 1764.
2. Statuta Collegii.
The wood-cut of the Colledge arms pasted on the title-page, coloured by hand.
On the opposite page are pasted some extracts from Jerome relating to the pelican.

On the last leaf (pp. 31, 32) are Interpretations of Statutes by Dr Jegon and Dr Still.

3. Joscelyn's Historiola.
See on 488, and p. 53 of Mr Clark's edition.
Indentura de fundatione schole in Rachedale . . . . f. 76
Copies of some documents added by way of note in cent. xviii . . . . 81
4. Joscelyn's Historiola "de eodem" (sc. Matth. Parker) . . . . 71 (sic) Nam cum (Quamquam) multa enarrauerimus.
Clark, pp. 52, 67: this tract is paged 71-89.
Many blank leaves follow. Towards the end of the book are
5. Elizabeth's charter concerning Sturbridge Fair.
6. "Custumia et Theolonium" of Sturbridge Fair.
7. Printed and pasted in:
The list of books given in 1574 to the University Library by Abp Parker, occupying 4 pp.

At the end are pasted in copies of three deeds of cent. xvi early.

490. REGISTER.

Vellum,  $11\frac{1}{8} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$ , ff. 37. Begun in 1613.

At one end is a Register concerning the Library, at the other a Register of Plate.

Parker's arms are blazoned on the flyleaf: surmounted by a mitre.

Title. Registrum omnium librorum in utrâque Bibliothecâ Exteriore silicet et Interiore Collegii Corporis Christi Cantabrigiensi anno dominicæ incarnationis MDCXIII Kalend. April. atque inde porrò.

The Bibliotheca Exterior is first treated. The records of donations go down to 1660. The only manuscript mentioned is the Koran given by Mr Hitchcock (no. 249).

After 14 blank leaves we have the Bibl. Interior.

A few manuscripts "extra Catologum" are mentioned: see further on the Libri ab aliis donati in the Introduction.

The entries cover about a page.

The Register of Plate begins with a resolution of the College (8 June 1648) that such a Register should be kept.

Then follow the arms of each donor very carefully drawn and a notice of his gift. These run from about 1590 to 1743.

The first 45 cups described were sold for £142. 10s. in 1648 and 1649, according to a statement on f. 4 b signed by the Master and Bursar.

There are other records of sales in 1656 and 169 $\frac{3}{4}$ .

491, 492.

Paper, small 4to, two volumes. Cent. xviii early.

Formerly Phillipps MSS. 7260 and 20958.

Purchased at the Phillipps sale of 1898, lot 512.

Vol. 1, pp. 208, has descriptions of the Miscellanea and of MSS. A. 1 to G. 5 followed by notes on the Miscellanea mostly crossed out.

Vol. 2, written up to p. 220, with an Index; continues from G. 6 to the end of the Libri ab aliis donati.

The last of those entered is 44 (Summa Raymundi).

At the end are directions to the Printer.

I have little doubt that this is in the autograph of Dr Stanley, the compiler of the Catalogus Vetus.

493.

Printed book no. 25, Io. de sacro busto 1516.

At the end seven leaves of paper,  $8 \times 5\frac{9}{10}$ , manuscript in a hand rather like that of Bale, but not his. Cent. xvi, 1st half:

Regule astronomie ex Arnoldo extracte including some tables.

In the cover at the end is pasted a well-drawn and well-preserved astrolabe with the movable portion cut out in cardboard and with the wooden pointer in perfect preservation.

494.

Numbered 40 among printed books.

Paper,  $7\frac{9}{10} \times 5\frac{4}{5}$ , ff. 117, 25 lines to a page. Cent. xv, in two clear hands.

Collation: quire gone | 1<sup>12</sup>-10<sup>12</sup> (wants 10-12).

Old stamped binding over boards, clasps gone.

The covers are lined with portions of 2 leaves of a xivth cent. MS: in double columns in French prose, perhaps from a romance. The name Galezout occurs several times.

In the cover:

Ex dono dignissimi viri Johannis Boothe Collegii Corp. X<sup>ti</sup> in Cant. dudum socii.

John Booth was Fellow 1627-40. He bequeathed a printed book to the College and says Masters (Lamb, p. 175) "at the same time a MS. of his own was presented, whose contents I could never learn." Probably this is the volume in question.

An English version of the Somme le Roy of Frere Laurent.

He was Master of Clare from 1436 to 1455.

The beginning of a Latin prologue to Jonah follows (xv).

The covers are lined with (a) two leaves of a xivth cent. MS. in single lines (34) of the Testamenta xii patriarcharum containing part of the Testament of Levi, (b) part of a leaf of a finely written xiith cent. service-book with lessons for S. Goduualdus.

497.

Printed Book 122.

Vellum,  $5\frac{4}{5} \times 4\frac{1}{5}$ , ff. 63, various numbers of lines to a page. Cent. xvii (1623?) in a very fine regular Italic hand.

499.

N. 1<sup>1</sup>

Vellum and paper,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$ , ff. 1 + 312, mostly double columns of 45 lines. Cent. xiv-xv.

Original binding, rough skin over wooden boards, five plain metal bosses on each cover, and a metal tag at middle bottom of first cover, two straps for clasps. Paper label (xv) inscribed 48(?). Water-mark · R ·

Collation: 1 flyleaf, 1<sup>16</sup> 2<sup>12</sup>-4<sup>12</sup> 5<sup>2</sup> 6<sup>12</sup>-16<sup>12</sup> (6 canc.) 17<sup>12</sup> 18<sup>12</sup> (6 canc.) 19<sup>12</sup>-26<sup>12</sup> 27<sup>8</sup> (8 lining cover).

The upper margins of the paper leaves are tender from damp.

As a rule the middle sheet of each quire is of vellum, in quire 1 the outer sheet is also of vellum and quire 5 is a single sheet of vellum.

The covers are lined with portions of a closely written xivth cent. MS. perhaps philosophical.

List of contents on the flyleaf:

In isto vol. continentur libri subscripti.

The poem: Illius assit gratia qui stricta cinctus fascia . . . . . 13

Printed by Milchsack Hymni et Sequentiae, Halle 1886 1, p. 143.

It is an acrostic by Franco of Meschede (a fact not noted by Milchsack): the initials of the stanzas (after the first) form the following sentence:

Franco Scolaster Meschedensis servitor alme virginis Marie humilis et deuotus ista collegit et domino Iohanni pape xxii misit.

In this copy this sentence is written at the top of f. 13 with the addition:

ut patet infra in literis capitalibus per ordinem intuentibus.

After the acrostic follow a number of stanzas beginning with Tu, and the poem ends as in Milchsack.

Concedat nobis penitus et nunc et semper amen.
